DELEGATES' PROBLEM IS HOOVER'S RUNNING MATE

Resolution to Go Home Would Help, Is Rogers' View

(Special To The News)

KANSAS CITY, June 14. — Say, while a lot of your minds are sorter half way taken up with this Republican apple sauce, I hope there is enough sanity left to give this Mexican aviator Carranza a hand—the one that flew to Washington.

I knew him down there. He is a great flyer in any man's country.

We spent all day here on resolutions. I wish someone would pass one that they adjourn and go home.

Moses made a speech Wednesday and denounced Smith, and incidentally eliminated himself from the vice presidency.

If Smith ever gets after him in the campaign, he will make him wish that Pharaoh's daughter had never dug him out of those bull rushes.

WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Welcome Shriners! Pa Newc on behalf of New Castleites is glad to extend a royal welcome today to the host of visiting shriners in New Castle for the evening's ceremonial. While this is the first visit of big delegations of Shriners from western Pennsylvania, Pa Newc is confident that it is only the start of repeated programs of the kind to be carried out today, and is confident that those who are guests today will be enthusiastic to return.

Another link to the past is fading. The county commissioners have decreed that the hitching posts that have stood for years, along Court street, near the county court house are to be removed. There is no need for them now-a-days. Parking space is the cry of the hour that worries the commissioners.

Action of Mayor W. H. Gillespie and Chief of Police C. C. Horner barring marathon dance contests in this city is an action that will meet with approval of the sensible people of New Castle. What good is accomplished by such spectacles is far beyond the comprehension of Pa Newc.

Looks like the G. O. P. convention might break up today. The certainty of Hoover's nomination has allowed the program to be pushed along rapidly. The naming of a vice presidential candidate is about the only uncertainty of the convention.

This is flag day. Are you taking part in the observance?

As the days grow warmer, Pa Newc hears more and more business men of the city start to agitate for the oft proposed municipal golf course. And while they are talking for the golf links, Pa News believes that they really should include planks in their platform to show that they are for municipal tennis courts also. And, as the tennis courts are smaller, they do not take up as much room, ergo they are not as costly as a nine-hole course.

Young Pa Newc was badly scooped yesterday. He was going to mention that here it was, not yet the middle of June, and yet several merchants are displaying fireworks for the young idea. Then, by reading his own paper, he finds that fireworks are one of the industries of the county, and the firing of them—if fireworks are fired—is one of our minor sports.

At the time of the general election in November, an $8,000,000 bond issue for the Pennsylvania State college is to be put before the voting public. If it is passed, the money will be used for a building program: for additional class rooms, laboratories and an enlarged faculty. Since its inception, the state has somewhat neglected its institution. For years it has hobbled along, hampered with many students and a pitifully small appropriation. But, it is a state institution, designed for the youth of the state, and deserves to be properly supported by the state, as the mid-western commonwealths support their universities.

"For's it's always fair weather—when good fellows get together", should be remembered by the Shrine

Seek Mid-West Candidate For Vice President

Senator Simeon D. Fess Of Ohio Now Boomed By Hoover Forces As Runningmate

SENATOR DENEEN ALSO MENTIONED

Republicans Hope To Nominate Vice President Candidate Liked By Farmers

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—A tentative decision by Herbert Hoover's high command to name a "dry from west of the Alleghenies" as his running mate and a sudden boom for Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, were the outstanding developments today in the race for the Republican vice presidential nomination.

The limitation, revealed to International News Service by a member of the "high command," virtually narrowed the field to Vice President Charles G. Dawes, Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois and Fess. Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, however, would have been the most formidable candidate for the honor had he not indicated a refusal to become Hoover's running mate.

Opposition to Dawes.

Reports of opposition to Dawes in both the Hoover and allied camps meanwhile seemed to reduce the field even further—to one containing the names of Deneen and Fess. A final decision though will be left to Hoover himself and he may select a candidate from other parts of the west.

This ultimatum appears to have punctured the boom for Senator Walter F. Edge of New Jersey, leader of the senatorial "west". The farm revolt destroyed Edge's chances, it was said, because the Hoover leaders desired a man who could help the ticket in the dry west.

The Dawes boom died slowly. He has scattered support in the east and south. His western friends seemed to have deserted him because of his failure to help in the battle to put a McNary-Haugen plank in the platform. The allied generals dropped him because of his silence during their fight on Hoover. The Hoover leaders were lukewarm because of his known coolness toward President Coolidge. Yet, despite all this opposition, the delegates themselves continued to boom Dawes for renomination.

Fess Well Liked.

It was alarm over the agricultural situation, according to the Hoover marshal, that brought about the decision for a "dry from west of the Alleghenies." It also brought Fess into the picture. It was pointed out that Fess was acceptable to President Coolidge, having been known as the "administration spokesman" in the senate for the last two years. The

Miss Earhart Plans To Make Stop In Flight At Azores

(International News Service)

TREPASSEY N. F., June 14.—Convinced by nine unsuccessful attempts to take off that the heavy pontooned, tri-motored monoplane Friendship cannot rise with a load of fuel sufficient to take it directly to England, Miss Earhart, Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon decided early today to hopp off to the Azores carrying only 700 gallons of fuel.

To reach England the Friendship must carry more than 800 gallons. The fliers announced they would fly to Lisbon from the Azores and thence to southampton.

Despite the fact that Mabel Boll and her two companions are at Harbor Grace poised to hop off just as soon as the weather permits, Miss Earhart and her companions are following their best judgment.

Stultz took the plane up on a test flight at 6:15 o'clock this morning. The plane handled well with its lightened load.

Stultz then announced that the flight would start as soon as he received a favorable weather forecast.

President Coolidge's Train Passes Through City During Morning

President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge went through New Castle this morning at 9:10 fast time bound for Wisconsin and the summer vacation.

With five sleepers a diner and a baggage car the special stopped at the Seventh ward station long enough to water the engine and after a two minute stop pulled out.

President Coolidge could be seen sitting in one of the coaches and on the back of the last coach were the two Collie dogs which are accompanying the president's party. While the train was on the New Castle division all other traffic was made secondary to it.

Two Amherst alumni met this morning at the Seventh Ward station of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Two old grads of the little Massachusetts college who years ago sat side by side in the class room.

Fourth Session Of Convention Is In Progress

Delegates Slow To Gather At Convention Hall This Morning

MUCH ORATORY ON DAY'S PROGRAM

(International News Service)

CONVENTION HALL, KANSAS CITY, June 14.—A complete day of oratory, platform and candidatorial, and perhaps a night as well, stretched away before the delegates to the Republican National convention today as the delegates assembled in Kansas City's huge auditorium at 10 a. m. in the fourth session of the convention.

The delegates and visitors appeared to come reluctantly to the feast. When Senator George H. Moses, the permanent chairman, banged his gavel for order at 10 a. m., the delegate sections were less than a quarter full and there were yawning caverns of empty seats in the galleries and reserved sections.

The inevitability of the Hoover victory contributed perhaps to the tardiness of the delegates and visitors. A fight draws a crowd, but a ratification meeting requires the draft.

Smoot Weary

Senator Reed Smoot, the gaunt chairman of the platform committee, sat wearily on the platform with a bulky sheaf of papers in his hand, awaiting the call to the rostrum to enlighten the delegates on the 1928 of Republican principles. He looked tired from the long hours of arguing in committee with the embittered champions of McNary Haugenism, and the insistent wets who demanded that the Republican party take "A liberal view" of the prohibition problem in its platform.

The wets and the farmers were foredoomed to defeat, but they were intent anyway on having their say in this convention.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, the scholarly president of columbia University, notified Chairman Moses just before the session that "If the platform mentions the Eighteenth amendment by name, I must be allowed some time." He was assured he could have it.

Invocation Pronounced

The invocation was pronounced by

Coolidge Train En Route West

Nearly 80 Persons Aboard Special Train On Way To Wisconsin

MRS. COOLIDGE HAS CARE OF NURSE

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD THE PRESIDENTIAL EN ROUTE WISCONSIN, PITTSBURGH, June 14.—President Coolidge was on his way to Wisconsin this morning, bound for the Henry Clay Pierce estate on Brule river for a three months' vacation.

A year ago, in Rapid City, S. D., he said: "I do not choose to run", and he made it plain that he sincerely meant it.

With the President was Mrs. Coolidge, whose illness held up the departure from Monday to Wednesday night. A navy trained nurse was aboard to keep watch over Mrs. Coolidge, and Colonel J. F. Coupal, the President's personal physician, indicated that she would remain in bed for the remainder of the trip. She is suffering from a recurrence of the illness that confined her to her bed for a month several weeks ago.

Nearly 80 persons were aboard the special train. More than a dozen servants were in the party, all of whom will be installed at the summer White House. Traveling also are a score of secretaries, stenographers, clerks and messengers who will man the temporary executive offices at Superior.

Secret operatives, newspaper correspondents and photographers comprise the remainder of the party.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 14. Refuelling of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia, in which Miss Mabel Boll and her flying companions, Captains Oliver Le Boutillier and Arthur Argles hope to take off for England today, began early today.

Three hundred gallons of gasoline will be loaded aboard the famous plane. They expect to make the flight to England in 19 hours.

Large Class To Receive Degrees At Cathedral This Evening

Dripping skies and threatening clouds failed to dampen the ardor of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine today. Despite weather conditions, political activities and the bearish action of the stock market the Shriners were all set at noon for what promises to be a day to be remembered in New Castle.

"What about the parade?" asked some of the faltering at noon. And the answer came back, "What about it? If the Potentate says parade, then we will parade, though the flood gates of the skies are upset."

Some In At Noon.

At noon today the vanguard of the Nobles began coming in. From Butler, from Johnstown, from Ellwood and from Youngstown, the cars began checking in and at 2:30 the main body was expected to land via the P. & L. E railroad. On board the Shrine train was Illustrious Potentate Reginald A. Daniell, and with him his Arab Patrol, his band, the Syria chanters, aides, satraps, satellites and just members.

The program called for the train to be met at the station by the Lawrence Caravan headed by President Fred L. Rentz, with the Builders band leading them to the Scottish Rite cathedral. Here a short business session was scheduled to be held and at 4 o'clock a parade was to form on Lincoln avenue.

This parade should make history for public demonstrations in New Castle. Colorful uniforms, thousands of bobbing fezes and plenty of martial music. All depending of course upon the disposition of the weather man and the decision of Potentate

Secretary Mellon Confers With Farmer Delegates

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—With the presidential fight apparently decided, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today cast about for means of placating the irate farmers who have stormed about the convention city for the last three days.

Receiving humble farmers, bronzed with toil in the sun, and clad in humble raiment, the "third richest man in the world" talked to them with all the deference accorded to ambassadors of rank.

While all Republican chiefs save him were ignoring the parades and inflammatory banners of the farmers, the treasury secretary opened his doors for a series of conferences upon which the farmers pinned high hopes. The titular farm organization heads who already had seen Mellon, were omitted from the delegations.

No promises were made save a declaration that he stood ready to help to improve the farmers' lot. The prize of the vice presidency was dangled lightly before one delegation when Mellon indicated that he wanted to favor a man who was satisfactory to them.

Barred from the convention hall in parade formation, defeated in every other fight, and told that their farm demonstration had proved to be a "dud", the farm delegation overrode their own leaders to turn to Mellon as their one last hope for consolation.

Hoover Forces Are In Control Of Convention

Supporters Of Secretary Can End Convention When They Choose

LIKELY TO ALLOW MUCH DEBATE TODAY

Selection Of Runningmate For Hoover Only Big Problem Of Delegates

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—Unchallenged now on any front, the new Hoover dynasty in the Republican party pointed into the third round of the national convention today intent on winding it up as quickly as possible.

There remained the adoption of the platform, the nomination of Hoover with a whoop on the first ballot, and the selection of his runningmate. The Hoover captains have enough votes to shove through their program in any direction whenever they choose to call the roll.

To Hear Arguments

They can shut off the platform fight almost any time it pleases them, but probably won't because of the political wisdom of letting the Middle West blow off all the steam it wants over the cherished McNary-Haugen principle of farm relief. Hence a full day of fiery—and futile-debate was in prospect this morning.

They can nominate Hoover almost by acclamation, at least they counted some 800 votes this morning.

They can name their own vice presidential candidate and probably will—someone who classifies as dry and Middle West like Dawes, Deneen of Illinois, Fess of Ohio or Henry J. Allen of Kansas or some conservative

Prohibition And Farmers' Relief Planks Feature

First Time Major Party Has Embodied Definite Plank On Prohibition

LENGTHY LIST OF PROBLEMS TOUCHED

Debate Centers On Phases Of Farm Relief Program Of Republican Party

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—Into a Republican convention snarling over the farm issue, the resolutions committee today dropped the Hoover-dictated platform which rejects the corn belt's plan for agricultural relief.

By inference the platform upheld President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen relief bill and offered the farmers as a substitute the Jardine administration plan for federal aid to co-operative marketing. Further relief was promised in "adequate tariff protection for agricultural products".

The platform, on which the party will make its bid before the country for continuance in power, was adopted by the resolutions committee only after a 40-hour fight waged against the farm plank by the anti-administration, anti-Hoover forces.

Prohibition Plank.

For the first time since prohibition became effective, the platform contained a specific reference to the 18th amendment by pledging the party and its nominees to the "observance and vigorous enforcement of this provision."

The farm and prohibition planks were the heart of the platform of nearly 60 typewritten pages. There were 36 planks in all.

The platform extolled President Coolidge as perhaps no other Republican president has been praised since Lincoln.

It promised further tax reduction and lauded the financial accomplishments of the administration, particularly economy and debt reduction.

It urged upward tariff revision to meet world competition.

Ice Breakers Start To Nobile's Relief

It is feared that it will take nearly three weeks for the icebreakers to reach the refugees.

Here's the rain back, couldn't stay away, had to come back for the Shriners' day, flags are dripping, bunting is wet, but the Nobles never mind it, everything is all set. The rain may come and the rain may go, and the drops may turn to a sleety snow, but the Nobles smile and go right ahead, you can't beat a Shriner 'till he's very dead. So what though the rain tries to spoil the parade, those lads keep on coming, never get afraid, they're here for fun and a lot of play, you can't stop a Shriner, sixty-nine today.

High Lights Of 1928 Republican Platform

(International News Service)

"Never has the soundness of Republican policies been more amply demonstrated X X X than during the last five years under the leadership of President Coolidge."

"The record of the United States treasury under Secretary Mellon stands unrivalled and unsurpassed."

"We pledge our party X X X to such further reduction of the tax burden as the condition of the treasury may from time to time permit."

"A protective tariff is as vital to American agriculture as it is to American manufacturing."

"The Republican party maintains the traditional American policy of non-interference in the political affairs of other nations."

"We favor, without putting the government into business, the establishment of a federal system of organization for co-operative and orderly marketing of farm products."

"The Republican party pledges itself to the development and enactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality with other industry to insure its prosperity and success."

"The party is anxious, hopeful, and willing to assist in any feasible plan for the stabilization of the coal mining industry."

"We believe that injunctions in labor disputes have in some instances been abused and have given rise to a serious question for legislation."

"The Republican party stands for the American built, American owned, and American operated Merchant Marine."

"The Mississippi Valley flood in which 700,000 of our fellow citizens were placed in peril of life, and which destroyed hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property, was met with energetic action by the Republican administration."

"We favor the continued development in inland and in intracoastal waterways as an essential part of our transportation system."

"The Republican party pledges itself and its nominees to the observance and vigorous enforcement of this provision (18th amendment) of the constitution."

"The improper use of money in governmental and political affairs is a great national evil."

"There is a real need in the country today X X X to combat the tendency that is all too common to turn to the federal government as the easiest and least burdensome method of lightening their (the state's) own responsibilities."

Plan To Adjourn Union Conference

Save-The-Union Committee Decides To Carry Fight Into Own Districts

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—Planning to carry their campaign for the organization of an independent union back to their own districts, "Save-the-union" leaders who are heading the insurgent movement against the United Mine Workers of America, prepared to adjourn their conference here today.

An arrangement committee, headed by John J. Watt, met today and formulated plans for carrying out the decisions of the conference. Arrangements were completed for the national conference in Pittsburgh on September 9 at which the insurgent group hopes to organize its new union.

A call for the national convention will be sent to all local unions and broadcast throughout the unorganized territory within the next few days.

The biggest task confronting the insurgent movement, according to Watt, is the organization of the non-union miners in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky where he says the union has disintegrated.

Stage Hold-Up In Kansas City

Visitors And Delegates To Convention Figure In Bandit Attack

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 14. — While visitors and delegates were on their way to convention hall today, bandits staged a hold-up at the Home Trust Company in the downtown section, shot and seriously wounded a traffic officer, a girl and two other persons.

"Happy" Smith, the traffic policeman, was dangerously wounded when he attempted to disperse the bandits and Lillian Roland, 17, was shot as she stepped from a curb to cross the street in front of the bank building. One of the others wounded was a policeman and the fourth a passerby.

The bandits were repulsed by tear bombs hurled by employes of the bank. The bank was vacated immediately and officers and some of the gas penetrated to the street, affecting pedestrians on the sidewalk.

The amount of loot taken was estimated at between $20,000 and $30,000.

SEEK MID-WEST CANDIDATE FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Hoover leaders believed too that he would help the ticket in Ohio, a doubtful state, which may furnish the Democratic candidate for vice president, and a state in which Hoover was under vicious attack from the late Senator Frank B. Willis during the primary campaign.

There was much talk about Deneen among Hoover leaders. It was said he would help Hoover in the west by his stand for the McNary-Haugen bill, his great record of law enforcement and the prominence he won by defeating the Thompson-Crowe organization in the recent Chicago elections. His selection, it also was felt, would enable Hoover to carry Illinois, another "doubtful state", and would tend to placate the allies.

The names of Rep. John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, Republican floor leader of the house; Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, the convention's permanent chairman; former Gov. Charles E. Osbornerne of Michigan, and Hanford MacNider of Iowa, the "soldier" candidate, will be presented to the convention, along with a half dozen others. Stiff opposition to Tilson in his own delegation and the geographical location of Moses were said to have destroyed their chances of victory while the others had only scattered support and were not being considered seriously by the Hoover leaders, who control the convention.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S TRAIN PASSES THROUGH CITY DURING MORNING

States, the other was Attorney Richard F. Dana of this city. As the president's special pulled up to a stop at the station President Coolidge looked out and seeing his friend Dana, tapped upon the window for him to come inside.

The meeting was but a brief one, taking but a few short minutes. The president invited Mr. Dana to have his friend come up and Dr. L. W. Wilson, who was with Mr. Dana had the pleasure of meeting the president.

As to what was said during the meeting, Mr. Dana is as silent as the president. Perhaps Amherst does that for a student.

The engineer hauling the president's special was R. E. Armstrong, a New Castle man who is a veteran in the service of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. He took the train from Pittsburgh to Willard. The conductor was J. J. McMahon.

Of course Tunney's interest in Shakespeare is a pose. Being a prize fighter doesn't make him unlike other people.

hosts this afternoon, for if this morning's indications are any criterion, they might be ducked. Old Man Pluvius is no respecter of parades, conventions or picnics.

Folks out at East Brook are going to have an elevated road through their town, it appears. The grading done for the improved highway raises the roadway a couple of feet above the old roadway, and above the properties along the route.

Few persons in New Castle were aware this morning that the president of the United States was here for a short time. The special train bearing the president's party on the trip to the Wisconsin outing, went through the city during the morning.

Traffic Officer Thomas Jones explained this morning why the Jefferson street bus, which is now routed around the corner of Mill and Washington streets, apparently violates traffic light signals at the corner. The bus makes the turn on the red light, so as to avoid congestion of traffic at the corner, he said.

While there have been numerous recommendations for changes in the jury rooms at the court house for accommodation of mixed juries, no progress has been made. In the meantime we have another report of a mixed jury of five women and seven men being locked up over night, in one of the jury rooms. Not very pleasant for the members of the jury, Pa Newc would opine, out of experience serving on a jury some time since.

FOURTH SESSION OF CONVENTION IS IN PROGRESS

Rabbi Hermann M. Cohen, of Kansas City. Whereas his predecessors, a protestant and catholic, have contended themselves as merely asking a divine blessings on the assemblage, Rabbi Cohen went further—he asked the divinity to make this convention "Receptive to new ideas".

The session got off to a patriotic start when Senator Moses called the convention's attention to the fact that this date, June 14, is Flag day, and said it was fitting that this Republican gathering should take cognizance of it. As he spoke, he shook out the folds of the great silken flag that was stanchioned by his side, and there was applause.

"Now, let's have the 'Star Spangled Banner,'" he directed, with a nod to the band.

Then came the platform.

"The next order of business," shouted Senator Moses, "Is the report of the committee on resolutions. He will follow in general the rule of the convention which confines speakers to five minutes each, but the chair reserves the right to extend it in his discretion to ten minutes in some cases, and no more."

Smoot began in a somewhat husky voice. The platform, he said, was "A somewhat lengthy document and he prayed the attention and indulgence of the delegates in the long and tedious presentation. His voice didn't carry very well, and there were cries of "louder, louder" from all parts of the hall.

The Utah senator tried to raise his voice, but had talked much in committee and he had a long way to go, and he didn't have much success.

Before Smoot had proceeded five minutes, Senator Moses had to come to his aid and rap for order.

There appeared to be a good deal of conferring and huddling over the vice presidential situation in progress on the floor as Smoot continued his dry intonation of the party bible. Here and there were observed scouts and lieutenants woring in behalf of various candidates, and this contributed to the confusion on the floor.

The plank dealing with agriculture was only perfunctorily applauded, despite its manufacture by the Hoover forces, and its Coolidgesque pattern.

There was prolonged applause, however, and half the delegates stood when Smoot reached that part dealing with Mississippi flood relief and control.

"During the disaster," said Smoot, "the president mobilized every public and private agency under the direction of Secretary Hoover, of the department of commerce—"

A wave of applause started. Then somebody got up, and in a few seconds there was some yelling. A few of the more enthusiastic Hoover supporters waved their banners and a large Texan marched down the aisle on the right of the speakers' stand with the Texas standard held aloft.

HOOVER FORCES ARE IN CONTROL OF CONVENTION

easterner like Moses of New Hampshire or Edge of New Jersey or John Q. Tilson of Connecticut.

The serious resistance to anything appeared all gone this morning from the camp of the defeated allies, who have made political history if but little else in Kansas City this week.

Final Straw

The final straw was the test vote in the convention yesterday on the seating of the Hoover delegates from Texas, which showed the futility of any further battling. The anti-Hoover people mustered their maximum strength on that and fell approximately 150 votes short of a blocking majority.

Following this, New York caucused again and showed 77 votes for Hoover. There was every prospect today that on the first ballot for the presidency the entire New York delegation of 90 will be recorded for the heir apparent to the Republican throne.

The formality of nominating speeches for other candidates, however, will be gone through, despite the realization by the candidates themselves that they have no chance.

"It's all over but the shouting," said Senator James E. Watson of Indiana today.

"Who will you support for vice president?"

"That's up to Mr. Hoover. Anybody he wants."

And Senator Charles Curtis, the Kansan, who only yesterday defiantly reiterated that "I will still be nominated," said last night at a banquet of the Oklahoma delegation:

"I won't quit this fight until the balloting is ended and a nominee chosen by the convention. Then I'll be for the nominee, irrespective of whether he comes from the Pacific coast, the East—or even from London."

He added that he was "proud of Oklahoma because her delegates are not bandwagon chasers."

It was the last gasp of the allies.

It didn't seem likely that the convention could get through its work today, although there were a lot of leaders on both sides who wish to, now that the fight is all over. Some thought it possible to adopt the platform at the first session, opening at 10 o'clock today, and then to have the nominations tonight. It all depends on how long the platform debate will be allowed to run.

SECRETARY MELLON CONFERS WITH FARM DELEGATIONS

So pleasant were the visits of the farmers with Mellon that he was voted "a fine fellow" personally by those who saw him.

"Mr. Mellon treated us fine," said S. S. Davis of Monticello, Ill., detailing an account of a visit with the secretary. He expressed interest in our cause, but he didn't promise anything.

"We told Mr. Mellon that we didn't see how he could support Hoover. He said that it was necessary to select a man who agreed with the administration or the Democrats would be able to say the convention had repudiated it. He also said that Hoover had shown such strength that he felt that Pennsylvania's votes ought to go to him.

"He asked us who we were for and we mentioned Lowden, Watson, Curtis, Goff and others. He mentioned no objection to any of them.

"He said that he couldn't support the McNary-Haugen bill because it was government price-fixing, and when we said the tariff was the same thing he answered that the tariff was an old, established and tried plan in the country.

"During all our talk Mr. Mellon assured us of his interest, although he didn't offer anything that we considered a constructive plan.

"One man told him that Al Smith would carry 75 per cent of the vote in some southern Illinois counties and Mr. Mellon replied that the situation was just reversed in other places."

The preliminary judging will take place along the road, one mile away from the camp. Then, the boys will be judged on the mile hike to camp on proper methods of carrying their packs and other equipment. When the caravan arrives at camp, tents will be pitched.

The chief judge of the camporee will be William Wessel of the National Council, camping department, New York City. His chief assistants will be Tom Cairns of Philadelphia and Major Roy F Seymour, regional executive of Region 3, Boy Scouts of America. These men will have as their assistants one man from each of the participating councils.

Again Saturday morning the boys will be inspected at breakfast and at ten o'clock in the morning each group will be given a project, consisting of work in scouting. The nature of the project will not be known until it is given to the different groups.

The vanguard of scouts is expected to arrive in New Castle Friday noon, and all during the afternoon, the boys will be taken to the camp. A meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Scout Executives' Seminar will take place in connection with the camporee, states Mr. Calahan.

Councils as far east as Altoona and as far north as Erie will be represented at the camporee.

SHRINERS READY FOR PROCESSION AND CEREMONIAL

Daniell. Noble William H. Dunlap was to head the parade as grand marshal and the number in line should reach 5000.

Ceremonial Tonight.

The day's events will come to a colorful climax tonight in the cathedral when the ceremonial is held. The Syria band will present a concert, the Legion of Honor Drill Corps will present a demonstration drill, vaudeville and moving pictures and other events are scheduled. As for the ceremonial itself, the candidates await the action of the Nobles in fear and trembling. Stories of long hot trips across the sands of the desert with not a drinking fountain in sight have convinced some of the candidates that after tonight they will be able to face even an irate mother-in-law with nary a qualm.

On the part of the local committees, President F. L. Rentz received word this morning that everything was functioning smoothly and that not a detail had been overlooked. Some 110 candidates will receive degrees and from noon until midnight the work of inducting these men into the mysteries of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine will occupy the attention of every man who wears a red fez and who is present at the festivities.

The naked and hungry in Shantung are different. They aren't trying to keep in style and they aren't trying to reduce.

Deaths Of The Day

Mr. Kaufman's Funeral.

Funeral services of the late Nicholas Kaufman were held Wednesday, June 13 at 2:30 p .m. from the home of his daughter Mrs. Mary Finnegan of 203 Scott street. Rev. C. B. Wingerd pastor of the Central Presbyterian church was in charge of the services. Mrs. Harry Barnes rendered the selections "Face to Face" and Sometime We Will Understand" during the services.

The pallbearers were Ray Finnegan, Nick Lewis, W. Kaufman, Harry Rolla and Chester Smith. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Freda Strobel

Mrs. Freda Strobel, aged 60 years, widow of H. J. Strobel, and one of the best known and highly esteemed women of this city, passed away on Wednesday evening suddenly at her home, 432 Galbreath avenue, from heart trouble.

Although Mrs. Strobel had been in poor health for some weeks, her death was very unexpected. She died while sitting in the porch swing at her home.

She was born in Germany June 2, 1868, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Giering. She came to this country when a small child and had been a resident of New Castle for 30 years.

Mrs. Strobel was an active and faithful member of the Central Christian church of this city and was the teacher of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Sunday school.

Surviving her are the following children: Florence, Helen, Clara, Edna, Ruth, Roy and Grace, at home, and Mrs. W. J. Houston and William Strobel of this city. She leaves also the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. N. W. Lennig and Fred Giering of New Castle, Mrs. John Marshall of Rose Point, Mrs. John Higgs of Youngstown and John Giering of Gibsondale, Pa.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, June 16, at three p. m. from the family residence, with Rev. J. B. Porter officiating. Burial in Oak Park cemetery.

PROHIBITION AND FARMERS' RELIEF PLANKS FEATURE

logg's multilateral treaty to outlaw war.

It pledged regular publicity of campaign funds as a means to curb excessive expenditures in elections.

It promised adequate relief for disabled veterans.

It denounced dishonesty in government and deplored the fact that certain citizens of both parties have trafficked in national interests for private gain.

It promised to round out the navy to the 5-5-3 ratio of the Washington conference.

It urged greater participation by women in politics.

It renewed the recommendation for enactment of anti-lynching legislation.

Farm Plank.

The farm plank, which Senator Borah of Idaho characterized as offering the farmers no more in the way of relief than the 1924 platform, caused a group of 15 southern and western members of the committee to submit a minority report embracing the principle of the equalization fee in the McNary-Haugen bill. Earl C. Smith of Illinois, a Lowden man, led the dissenters.

This is the 1928 model of farm relief offered in the national platform:

"We promise every assistance in the reorganization of the marketing system on sounder and more economical lines and, where diversification is needed, government financial assistance during the period of transition.

"The Republican party pledges itself to the enactment of legislation creating a federal farm board clothed with the necessary powers to promote the establishment of a farm marketing system of farmer owned and controlled stabilization corporations or associations to prevent and control surpluses through orderly distribution.

"We favor adequate tariff protection to such of our agricultural products as are affected by foreign competition.

"We favor, without putting the government into business, the establishment of a federal system of organization for cooperative and orderly marketing of farm products.

"The vigorous efforts of this administration towards broadening our export markets will be continued.

"The Republican party pledges itself to the development and enactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality and other industry to insure its prosperity and success."

Other Planks.

Other important planks follows:

Tariff—"The Republican party believes that the home market, built up under the protective policy, belongs to the American farmer, and it pledges its support of legislation which will give this market to him to the full extent of his ability to support it."

Foreign debts—"We have no desire to be oppressive or grasping, but we hold that obligations justly incurred should be honorably discharged. We know of no authority which would permit officials acting as trustees to shift the burden of the war from the shoulders of foreign taxpayers to those of our own people."

Foreign Policies—"We endorse the proposal of the secretary of state for a multilateral treaty proposed to the principal powers of the world and open to the signatures of all nations, to renounce war as an instrument of national policy and declaring in favor of pacific settlement of international disputes, the first step in outlawing war.

"The Republican party will continue to support American rights in Mexico, as elsewhere in the world, and at the same time to promote and strengthen friendship and confidence * * *.

"The Marines, now in Nicaragua, are there to protect American lives and property and to aid in carrying out an agreement whereby we have undertaken to do what we can to restore and maintain order and to insure a fair and free election * * *.

"The Republican party maintains the traditional American policy of non-interference in the political affairs of other nations. This government has definitely refused membership in the League of Nations and to assume any obligations under the covenant of the league.

"On this we stand."

Mining—"The party is anxious, hopeful, and willing to assist in any feasible plan for the stabilization of the coal mining industry which will work with justice to the miners, consumers and producers."

Labor—"The party favors freedom in wage contracts, the right of collective bargaining by free and responsible agents of their own chosing, which develops and maintains that purposeful cooperation which gains its chief incentive through voluntary agreement."

Railroads—"We believe that the present laws under which our railroads are regulated are soundly based on correct principles, the spirit of which must always be preserved. Because, however, of changes in the public demands, trade conditions and of the character of the competition, which even the greatest railroads are now being called upon to meet, we feel that in the light of this new experience, possible modification or amendments, the need of which is proved, should be considered."

Public Utilities—"The protection of the public from exactions or burdens in rates for service by reason of monopoly control, and the protection of the smaller organizations from suppression in their own field, has been a fundamental idea in all regulatory enactments. While recognizing that times federal regulations might be more effective than states in controlling intrastate utilities, the party favors and has sustained state regulation, believing that such responsibility in the end will create a force of state public opinion which will be more effective in preventing discrimination and injustices."

Honesty in Government—"We stand for honesty in government, for the appointment of officials whose integrity cannot be questioned. We deplore the fact that any official has ever fallen from this high standard and that certain American citizens of both parties have so far forgotten their duty as citizens as to traffic in national interests for private vain. We have prosecuted and shall always prosecute any official who subordinates his public duty to his personal interests."

Campaign Expenditures—"Economy, honesty, and decency in the conduct of political campaigns are a necessity if representative government is to be preserved to the people and political parties are to hold the respect of the citizens at large * * *.

"There will not be any relaxing of resolute endeavor to keep our elections clean, honest and free from taint of any kind. The improper use of money in governmental and political affairs is a great national evil. One of the most effective remedies for this abuse is publicity in all matters touching campaign contributions and expenditures. The Republican party, beginning not later than August 1, 1928, and every 30 days thereafter—the last publication being not later than five days before the election—will file with the committees of house and senate a complete account of all contributions, the names of the contributors, the amount expended, and for what purposes, and will at all times hold its records and books touching such matters open for inspection.

"The party further pledges that it will not create, or permit to be created, any deficit which shall exist at the close of the campaign."

Girl, 12, Saved From Marriage

Couple Expected To Have The Ceremony Performed In New Castle

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 14.—Because of an old European custom which permits parents to select mates for their young children, 12-year-old Vera Bega, who nearly became a bride sits in Detention Home waiting to return to her play, while her father and the man who nearly became her husband await in jail their day in court.

Right when Vera's prewedding party was at its peak at the home of Vera's father, John Bega, aged 40, at 1931 Pointview avenue, last night, County Probation Officer William A. Cleaver swooped down and arrested the father and Wasile Siduruk, aged 31, the would-be bridegroom.

Both are charged with contributing to the delinquency of Vera by causing her to swear that she was 19 in securing a marriage license. Both will be given a hearing before Judge Frank L. Baldwin in juvenile court.

According to the story told by Cleaver, Mr. and Mrs. Bega, Siduruk and Vera appeared at the marriage license bureau for a license for Vera and Siduruk.

When Marriage License Clerk Gomer Evans asked her age, she replied that she was 19 and was born in 1909. Both parents declared she was 19 years old and gave their consent to the marriage.

The parents and the prospective wedded couple then went to the parents' home where the prewedding party was begun. Later in the evening the party expected to start for New Castle, Pa., where the ceremony was to take place.

When Officer Cleaver, notified by neighbors, marched in, the party was at its peak. The prospective bridegroom was merrily pulling and pushing a wheezy accordian, the guests sang happily, while the mother and the father sat smiling on the whole proceeding.

But Vera was not happy nor smiling. The girl, who could not help herself, merely sat and took it all in.

Officer Cleaver abruptly ended the party and took the girl and the would-be groom and the father into custody.

The girl admitted later to Cleaver that she had been forced to give the answers at the marriage license bureau, and that although she did not want to be married at this time, she was afraid to tell a different story for fear of being whipped.

The girl, who is very large for her age and very pretty, is a student in the 5-A grade in a Youngstown school. She easily could pass for 16 to 19 years old.

The stiff straw hats are harder to run down, but they protect the ears better as one goes through a windshield.

FELLOWSHIP DINNER AT FIRST CHRISTIAN

Covers were arranged for 185 guests representing Christian churches of New Castle, Ellwood City, Wampum, Enon Valley, Chewton and Edenburg at the Complimentary Fellowship dinner given by the Bethany College Crusade in the First Christian church of this city Wednesday evening.

Dr. Cloyd Goodnight, president of the college for the past nine years, was the principal speaker of the evening. Dr. Goodnight spoke especially of the needs of the college, emhasizing the great need of the building two new dormitories to care for the increasing student body.

S. R. Bradley of Pittsburgh, who is the director of the Crusade, was also one of the speakers .His talk was along the line of acquainting the people with the plans and aims of the Crusade.

Some months ago a Crusade for one million dollars was launched by the Christian denomination for Bethany college which is their oldest institution of learning. Since that time the work has been steadily carried on throughout West Virginia, Southeastern Ohio and Pennsylvania. No call was made for funds at the dinner.

The dining room was tastefully decorated with the college colors, green and white which were carried cut in summer flowers and banners.

An elaborate menu was served by the members of the Loyal Leaders class.

Y. L. B. Class

At the monthly meeting of the Y. L. B. class of the Third U. P. church Wednesday evening plans were made for the furnishing of a room at the new Jameson hospital. New Castle Lady Restored To New Health And Vigor
Miseries Of Kidney Trouble And Sluggish Liver Ended By New Konjola Medicine.

MRS. ANNA SPANISH
Seavy Photo

Health is the greatest asset we can possess. Without it life is uninteresting and we never seem to attain the utmost happiness we all strive so hard to acquire. Many of us go on from year to year with that half-sick feeling that comes from a rundown and disordered inner-system; complaining of aches and pains and remarking about the tired, drowsy feeling that comes over us so often. Since the introduction of the new Konjola medicine, many thousands of people throughout the Central States and Middle West have voluntarily offered strong words of praise for Konjola and hundreds of men and women have given their signed statements to the Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, telling of the wonderful benefits they derived from this celebrated compound.

One of the latest to describe the new health received from Konjola is Mrs. Anna Spanish, Moore street, South New Castle Borough.

"I had been a sufferer for many years", said Mrs. Spanish, "first trying one thing and then another, before I ever knew there was a medicine like Konjola. But now since I have taken this compound it has ended all my troubles and restored new health to me.

"My whole system was badly rundown and most of my miseries were caused by a sluggish liver and disordered kidneys. These ailments gave me untold trouble and no matter what I took for relief, I continued to suffer. I think that these troubles were brought on by poisons and impurities in my blood. It never seemed to circulate in the proper manner and a peculiar numbness in my limbs was caused by this condition. Because of bladder trouble I had to rise several times every night and when I got up the next morning the first thing that I noticed would be a terrific pain in the small of my back that was almost unbearable. Finally I got so nervous most of the time and recently the least noise would upset me. There were pimples and skin eruptions on my face and body and in spite of everything that I did to correct this, they always came back.

"A friend of mine had been taking Konjola and has received amazing results from it. He advised me to give it a trial and so I started on the treatment. Before the first bottle was gone I began to feel better and I knew that this was the medicine for my case. My kidneys got stronger and now, I don't have to get up a single time during the night. Every ache and pain caused by them have been banished and I know that that ailment is permanently ended. Then Konjola regulated my liver and cleansed the poisons from my blood. Since Konjola did this the embarrassing skin eruptions have been cleared from my face and body. I have only taken four bottles of this medicine and yet, my health has improved one hundred percent. I am never nervous and my sleep is sound and refreshing.

"Konjola certainly is a wonderful medicine and I want to say once more that I am only too glad to indorse it to others".

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

No More Piles
Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Specialist Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the internal treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEMROID.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named this prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEMROID is sold by druggists everywhere with money back guarantee. It is easy to take, and McKee's Kut Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

STAND BY OLD GLORY

OFFICIALLY "the Flag of the united states," reproducing literatim a portion of the original resolution creating the flag, is 151 years of age today. It is a curious feature that whoever penned the resolution capitalized "flag" but not the name of the nation.

The flag adopted by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, was an evolution from previous devices employed to denote the unification of the Colonies in a common cause. Nor has the flag remained as created except as it involves colors, stripes and stars. It has undergone repeated alterations, though "13 stripes alternate red and white" is a fixture and the Union "white in a blue field" adds a star for every new state.

While time has made necessary additions, in general appearance it is still the flag of the days of the Revolution.

The flag is the emblem of our national unity. It is not merely so much bunting, nor a variety of colors. Its stripes symbolize the beginnings of our history as a nation and its stars the growth in nearly a century and a half of existence. It is fitting, then, its natal day should be observed and that exercises commemorative of that for which it stands should instruct the youth of the land in its significance. It has had a history in which every American may delight. It is not the flag of conquest or aggression. It is the banner of a free people living under a government of law. It stands for justice and for equality of opportunity. It has been followed by armies seeking the relief of the oppressed. Its colors have inspired millions of men marching to repel the aggressions of the ruthless invader. It is our flag. Lessons in its meaning and mission will assist in keeping it unsullied.

But on this Flag Day Americans should do some deep thinking. It is not enough merely to display the emblem; that could be done perfunctorily—in the morning and with no more thought of it until time came to take it down at night. Think of what it is the emblem and realize that the only difference between it and some other brightly colored piece of cloth is the force of sentiment that we put into it. When displaying it today think of the ideals it represents and of the thousands upon thousands of splendid young men who have given their lives or of their blood to uphold them.

While these thoughts are thrilling Americans, there also should be recollection of how sight of the Stars and Stripes has thrilled other peoples to whom it has meant freedom and hope of a better age. Think of what the American Flag meant to those who had fears that civilization was going to ruin in the World War.

So, while priding ourselves in the thought that our National Banner has never known defeat in war, we must be on the alert to see that its honor is not lowered by desertion or neglect of its ideals in peace. Here is where every American should examine himself. Is he standing by the ideals of the American Flag in peace as our soldiers and sailors stood by them in war? Is he permitting without protest anything that would reduce the blood-bought victory?

HIGHWAYS IN SPAIN

AFTER a prolonged investigation of highway construction, materials and engineers, Spain has decided to spend $40,000,000 in constructing concrete roads and has employed American engineers and contractors to do the work. The first contract is for a tourist highway from Madrid to Irun, the line running through the Pyrenees, affording a delightful tour for the people there and for visitors. The road will be 260 miles in length, will have easy grades and be wide enough to accommodate heavy traffic safely.

In employing American engineers and builders Spain has paid a neat compliment to this country. Her representatives visited all countries where highway improvement has been developed and the choice made evidently may be taken to mean that they found the best highways in this country. The contract is one of the largest in the history of highway development in modern times and means years of work to reach completion.

The best highways are the cheapest, that fact having been given many illustrations in this country, and the best highways are the finest investment in point of long-continued service provided and in attracting tourists and helping forward the development of the country through which the highways are built. Spain is not wealthy and the decision to go ahead in a large way with highway construction shows the vigor and spirit of the people now in control in that country. It will be a paying investment.

ENJOYING THE OUTDOORS

LIFE becomes more rosy for everybody as column after column in the newspapers announces a camp for this group, an outing for that group, a picnic for store employes, an excursion for plant workmen, all in the name of healthful outdoor relaxation.

This hieing to the open has become a great national custom. And it is not all sentiment. Foremen and employers have learned the psychology of turning their workers loose on the picnic grounds for even half a day's outing. Clerks are enspirited by the very announcement of such pleasure and anticipation of the event keeps them on their toes while at work. Even after the great day ends and the prospect of the work day dawns, there is a new kind of enthusiasm for the job at hand.

The misfortune in America is that this highly desirable breakaway from the job occurs only during the summer. Other seasons of the year make such interruptions in the work just as desirable. the Saturday half-holiday runs through the year in many establishments. If Americans could spend more time in the open, they would be the better for it. They are spending much more than they once did, but they can spend still more without indulging in excesses.

We heard a story of a man who strangled a woman in a ballrom with more than a hundred persons present. Everybody thought they were dancing.

SERVICE

A theatrical troupe arrived in a New England town late one evening, to find that no accommodations were to be had in the only hotel that the place afforded. The landlord did not seem a bit affected by the sad plight of the tourists, but after much persuasion the old fellow said that they could sleep in an abandoned church across the street. For want of any other shelder they accepted and retired for the night.

About two o'clock in the morning the landlord heard the church bell ringing vigorously and sent his son over to see what was the matter. Jake brought back the report:

"They ain't nothing the' matter, pop, but the gent in pew 12 wants a couple of gin fizzes sent right over."

Editor's note: As even a modest violet craves a little praise occasionally, I thank you for them kind words.

We hear a lot about people stealing flowers in the cemeteries, and some evidently do it in the tense desire to decorate the graves of their loved ones. However, that is a poor way to do such things. For years we have been buying vases for a lot we have in the cemetery and they are stolen just as regularly as we put them on. There are evidently a lot of people in the world who do not care how they annex property, just so they annex it.

A man's last will is exercised just before a solemn gentleman says the words: "Then I pronounce."

Any New Castle girl who thinks a young man calls on her to hear her instead of see her is likely to die an old maid.

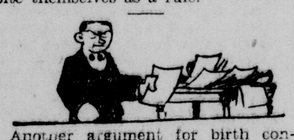
There are some people who love dogs so well that they think all of their friends will be just tickled to death when their dear doggie rubs a peck or so of fleas off on them. Lots of those puppies have fleas aplenty and you can tell it by the way they bite themselves as a rule.



Another argument for birth control is the number of graduation invitations we'll all be getting in a few weeks.

There must be some rough delegations at the Republican national convention. Even if we had gone and the people would have wanted us to go we would not have joined in with some of the rough stuff being pulled. For instance one California delegation had a state song which is as follows:

"There are no wives with us.
There are no wives with us.
There may be wives
With some of you guys
But there are no wives with us."

Our wife would have been along io matter what the cost would have been.

A poor apple crop is reported in Mercer county. The failure is not attributed to freezing but to the lack of blossoms. Now we would like to know what caused the lack of blossoms.

It's our guess that nobody goes to church less than the birds who holler loudest for religious freedom.

A Pittsburgh man declared in the court at Butler that he got married to a woman without first getting a divorce from his wife because he wanted to get money to support his wife and four children. He worked the new wife out of three hundred and she had him pinched and he will now serve two years in the pen and pay a fine of $500 while all the wives and kids root for themselves. What fools some men are! Heinz preserve us! Also help and assistance!

Our idea of a mean man is one who makes his wife buy it out of her allowance if she still likes a box of candy occasionally.

If some chaps get over this day safely they may live a long time.

We noticed an item in a western paper where a man brought suit against a company for misspelling his uncle's name on a tombstone. Probably considered it a "monumental error".

"AFTER YEARS"

After years had passed and I thought my heart
Was callous and dead and cold,
We met last night in a ballroom bright,
My sweetheart of days of old!
I thought I had buried you deep in the past,
But my fickle heart played me false,
And bounded with glee when you beckoned to me,
At the sound of the old-time waltz.

Then close to my heart, dear, I pressed you,
As we whirled in the dreamy waltz;
I forgot all my trials and troubles,
I forgot all your sins and faults.
All I knew, darling, was I loved you,
And would till the judgment day,
And I prayed that the dance could go on Forever and ever and aye.
(But just then your hubby, with scowling face, Came over and took you away).

It would seem that the good old free lunch custom still survives, but nobody gets the benefit of it any more but the mosquitoes. How would you like to be a mosquito during the coming summer? Those silk things are easy to bite through, no doubt.

Next Sunday is Father's Day. Bless dear old papa. What will they buy him to make him feel good? The florists do not even know when it's Father's Day, because we asked one and he did not know. Maybe the bootlegger would know. Perhaps some papas would like a quart.

Hoover—
One Wild Day.
High Finance Overdid It.
Politics, Stocks, Money.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Mr. Hoover, whose nomination is conceded by those that opposed it, is a trained engineer, understanding national problems, a first-class business man, a good organizer.

The people know him, and have seen him at work for years. There is no uncertainty, no "dark horse," no meeting of "big men" in a back room to hand the people their candidate. This time they choose him for themselves.

The Stock Exchange, Tuesday enjoyed what you might call a wild day. Five and a quarter million shares sold, the ticker still going frantically at 4:53 o'clock.

Many wish they had taken the advice often printed here, "DON'T GAMBLE."

The scare must run its course. Those new to Wall Street will sell stocks as foolishly as they bought them.

BUT VALUES HAVEN'T BEEN HURT. Stocks by the dozen are selling far below their intrinsic worth. The public will come to its senses, little fish will be thrown back out of the Street to gather more money. And the country's prosperity will go ahead.

High finance, that didn't want Hoover and thought it wise to make business look doubtful for a while, succeeded perhaps beyond its plans.

Gen. Dawes probably will be nominated for vice president. The country, regardless of politics will have wise leadership, as it has had under President Coolidge, and prosperity will go ahead.

Unfortunately, it will not restore to many the lost savings of a lifetime. Only experience can teach the majority.

Tuesday it was said "only a miracle can prevent Hoover's nomination." That would be miracle No. 2. The first miracle is the possibility of Hoover's nomination, in spite of the fact that Wall Street didn't want him and said so. That's a big enough miracle for one convention.

In case you have time to read about it, Miss Mabel Boll had hopped, and Miss Earhart, when this was written, had failed to hop across the Atlantic.

Hurricane in Poland, houses torn apart and burned, near Warsaw.

Samoan natives ruled by New Zealand protest to the League of Nations against prohibition. Forty million Americans can assure them that the protesting won't do them any good.

Athens is having more riots, soldiers stoned.

But nobody cares about all that.

POLITICS, MONEY, STOCKS, command attention now.

Bargain day in Wall Street for big fellows with real money. Little fish throw good stocks overboard to protect cats and dogs. Good stocks drop, while the cats and dogs struggle for life.

That is the bargain hunter's opportunity.

DON'T GAMBLE. And, if it is too late to take that advice, turn over a new leaf, keep what you have left, if anything, and when this storm blows over, buy what you PAY FOR.

FLAG DAY

To the red, the white, the blue,
L would pledge my soul anew.
Lord, I pray, the while I live
To that banner let me give
More than just a lifted eye
As I see it passing by.

This is Flag Day, and I come
Not to martial tap of drum,
Not to bugles, calling out
Soldiers tyrant foes to rout,
But unheralded, alone,
Making my devotion known.

Faithful ever let me be
To the flag of liberty,
Not alone in lines to read,
But in every thought and deed,
Let me walk, erect of head,
Faithful to its honored dead.

Let my patriotism show
Through the days which come and go,
Let my love of freedom seem
More than just a passing dream,
Let me, to my journey's end,
Be Old Glory's steadfast friend.

FLAG DAY

Once a year we are called on to pay particular reverence to the national flag.

The flag is the one totem which still holds sway with intelligent men.

We know that it is a symbol, a mere sign, but it is a symbol of something which is of the utmost importance to all of us.

It is a symbol of our national life, of our social group. It does not necessarily mean that we are opposed to any other group or that we hurl defiance at anybody.

Some people always interpret their flag belligerently. It smells of gunpowder. All the rancors of ancient wars seem to linger in its folds. To them it means hatred of England, suspicion of European nations and detestation of Mexicans and

It was probably a man of this kind in Texas who advertised himself as a 200 per cent American. He was asked what he meant by being 200 per cent. "Oh," he replied, "I hate everybody!"

With too many men, patriotism is a kind of exalted Chauvinism or bellicosity.

When Golden Rule Jones was made Mayor of Toledo he had the policemen put away their clubs and pistols and wear white gloves. It was to symbolize the fact that policemen existed not to hurt people primarily, nor to arrest them, but to help them. The plan worked.

So our country does not maintain its integrity and cherish its ideals in order that it may be able to defeat or make war upon other countries primarily, but to conserve its own strength and develop its own powers so that it may be a help to the world.

We want to stand to the rest of the nations as a big brother, and not as a possible opponent.

War has practically demonstrated its uselessness. It has been found to be about as costly and wasteful to the conqueror as to the conquered.

But while we are confirmed internationalists and sincerely believe that above all nations is humanity, we should not be what Dr. Butler calls colloid internationalists.

In other words, the coming world structure of universal brotherhood will not be formed like a wall of cement or like a glutinous mass, or like a brick wall built up of several bricks. The bricks are the nations and the strength of the whole wall or the world edifice will depend upon the efficiency of the individual nations.

Our devotion to our country, therefore, does not necessarily mean antagonism to any other country, but is a sincere appreciation of our ideals and a desire to use them for the benefit of mankind.

THE REBELLIOUS CHILD.

A lot of folk all over the country have wondered why Hartford, Conn., developed into the market center for insurance stocks in this country. Curiously enough, that foundation was "rum and molasses."

The Child has turned on its Father and if he who wishes Life Insurance today uses too much of either "rum or molasses" he does not get a policy. The Hartford Life Insurance Companies are very much opposed to the intemperate use of both these commodities. In fact, they do not like any of their works.

It seems that Hartford was an important water port of entry in the early colonial days, its shipping trade being largely conducted with West Indian ports and its imports being substantially rum, sugar and molasses. This eventually led to demand for ship and cargo "assurance" to protect shipowners and shippers against the perils and loss at sea.

From individual assumption of such risks as sporting wagers, firms and other combinations were gradually formed to syndicate these risks and the East Side coffee houses of Hartford became headquarters for this business. Success of these undertakings led to formation of fire insurance companies and later life insurance became an accepted phase of the business.

Naturally, the attention of Hartford people with money to invest was attracted to insurance company shares and gradually local dealers and investors became educated in practical ways of judging the values of insurance company shares. Today lists of insurance securities available for purchase and sale in Hartford include the stocks of practically all successful companies in the country.

But it is hard to get away from "rum and molasses."

THE CENTER OF LEARNING.

Walter Dill Scott president of Northwestern university, pictures Chicago as the hub of culture. He makes it out to be the real center of learning in the United States.

"We have a wealth of material in Chicago and more youth and more spirit than any other city in the world," he says.

Many people used to hearing about crime in Chicago will smile. Perhaps Dr. Scott is over-enthusiastic but the fact remains there is another side to this great city—a side that makes it one of the world's most progressive cities.

A WORD FOR THE GIRLS

One of the phases of American life that makes me a bit sad is the way the girls are being neglected. Nobody will be quite so indignant with me for mentioning this as the girls in question. But just the same I'm going to say a whole mouthful of things about it.

There are flocks and droves and choirs of good, interesting, good-looking, charming, marriageable girls in this country who can't get suitable husbands. Well, omit the qualifying adjective before husbands.

Now, the girls feel it incumbent upon them to pretend that they don't want husbands anyhow, and that it's by their own choice that they're remaining single. That's all right. I understand that, too. But let me talk for a minute just as though it weren't necessary to pretend.

* * *

I know plenty of the kind of girls I have been describing, and I'm not at all specializing in girls, you understand. Everybody knows a good many girls who would be happy to make some man happy and don't get the chance. I think it's one of the most poignant tragedies of our civilization.

Twenty-seven, high school graduate with office experience, good health, good family, good mind, well behaved, good-looking, good talker, loves children and would love to love a lovable man. Change the age to 24, and from that on up, and you have a fair description of the girl I mean. She's all about us, thousands of her. Well, why don't the boys marry her? They'd be happier if they had her, and she'd be happier, and there'd be some ornamental and useful children to take up the job of making the world spin.

* * *

I asked a bachelor friend of mine the other day why he doesn't marry at least one of these desirable young women. I offered to introduce him to six, and even to do the proposing to the first four. He's a well-educated literary chap, making six thousand a year. He answered:

"Don't be so dumb. Marry? I can hardly afford to be single, say nothing of being married. Clothes and beauty treatments and permanent waves and French baby coaches cost too much for me. No, the girls are awfully nice to me, but I can't afford to marry them."

So I got to wondering. Is life too expensive? Are our standards of living or our standards of spending getting too high? Is it possible that all these beautiful girls will have to go husbandless through life because rents are too high and tastes are too grand?

Women Playing Leading Roles At Convention

C. Bascom Slemp Says Astonishing Thing Is Part Played By Women Republicans

OLD LEADERS ARE SADLY MISSED

Moses Stirs Convention Delegates With Challenge To Tammany Tiger

By C. BASCOM SLEMP
Former Secretary to President Coolidge and One of the Most Active Hoover Lieutenants

(Written Expressly for International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—The second day of the convention was a regular old-fashioned convention day—ready for a fight, scrap, demonstration, ovation or any other kind of outbreak. Anybody could see this was coming. There is enough resistance and opposition to create the fighting spirit. The farmers have done the convention great good in arousing this interest and both sides are girding for the fight.

The farmers are demanding not only their plank in the platform, but the candidate they want. "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" was a slogan once, but it is "Coolidge and the constitution' with this convention.

Women Cutting In

The astonishing, almost upsetting thing for the men is the way the women are getting in on everything. I find the women accept every honor or nomination offered them. The first appearance of a woman as chairman of the great law committee that settles contests was Mabel Willebrandt—and she had it out with a famous pride of Delaware—Hastings—and she won. Straightforward talks on both sides—not brilliant, but delivered with fine effect.

Women and men are no longer just women and men. They are individuals.

The convention has been looking for its old leaders, but they are not here. New leaders are coming on. Mellon got a big hand, so did Deneen. Many senators and governors announced their states, but their faces were unfamiliar. General Edwards walked down the aisle, unknown and unnoticed.

I am glad this fight was made, as the convention is getting stirred.

Texas Consistent

In the vote on Texas, which was the only contest carried to the floor, there was one state in the Union that was consistent for principle. Wisconsin was distinctly and positively not for the principle they have always stood for—recognition by state conventions of state laws. Indiana, electing delegates under a state law that denied Hoover four districts, which he had carried, violated this principle in their vote. But Nebraska didn't. Other states may have voted as they did from principle. I don't know, but I know that Nebraska did. So here's to George W. Norris of Nebraska, whom I like very much at times.

Moses made a militant, aggressive speech. He would love to campaign the country this fall and attack the Democrats, and he could do it right. Moses gave us the first stir, and he just missed an ovation. He may get it later on. At least, he created the first big stir in the convention when he challenged the Democrats to bring out the Tammany tiger to be devoured this fall.

Charge Violation Of Snyder Act

Searching the home of William Shaner, West Washington street, last night on a search warrant Lieutenant of Police Hillers, Detective J. Young and Officers Letera and Lockard found a five gallon container partly filled with liquor they report. Shaner was taken before Alderman O. H. P. Green today where he was charged with violation of the Snyder act. He entered a pela of guilty to the charge and in default of $1,000 bail he is in the county jail to await action of the court on his case.

Tent Meetings Are Attracting Many

Adjutant and Mrs. Bruner, with the band from Oil City, had charge of the meeting last night in the Salvation Army tent, corner Euclid and Wilmington avenues. A good crowd was in attendance and enjoyed the music of the band and the message of the adjutant. He spoke on Sensational Things." He said in part: "The worshippers of Baal were in dead earnest when they called on Baal for rain but they were calling to a dead God. But Elijah prayed to the living God and received rain. Elijah did things in a sensational way and so we must do today.'

After the tent meeting there was an open air service on the square. Tonight the meeting will be in charge of Adjutant and Mrs. Alfred Miltson of Erie, Pa Services commence at 7:45 p. m.

DRESSING THE EYES.

A woman who is the director of the art department in a certain college tells young men and young women to buy clothes in accordance with their eyes. Those with the blue eyes should wear blue, she says, the men choosing socks and ties of that shade. Those with the dark eyes should select more vivid colors. The idea is to fit your personality. To do that match your eyes. But the rainbow seems to get the best of it.

Grove City College Elects Pittsburgh Man to President Of Trustees

GROVE CITY, Pa., June 14.—William L. Clause, head of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and associated with the People's Savings and Trust Company of Pittsburgh, was elected president of the board of trustees of Grove City College at a meeting of the board of trustees yesterday.

Mr. Clause will succeed J. Howard Pew of Philadelphia, who resigned as president of the board, due to his inability to be present at the regular meetings. This was the only change in the personnel of the board.

The members, whose terms expired this year, were all re-elected for another term of office, which will terminate in 1931. Those directors re-elected are as follows: Wilson A. Campbell of Sewickley, Harry J. Crawford of Emlenton, Rev. W. L. McEwan of Pittsburgh, John G. Pew of Philadelphia, Rev. D. A. Platt of Meadville, A. M. Thompson of Pittsburgh, William M. Robinson of Pittsburgh and Weir C. Ketler, ex-officio, of Grove City.

The board of trustees voted to appropriate the sum of $20,000 for necessary repairs on the present buildings and for needed additions to the present equipment. The regular date for the mid-year meeting of the board was changed from January to the second Monday in December.

The Flag

(Author Unknown)

Here comes The Flag.
Hail it!
Who dares to drag
Or trail it?
Give it hurrahs—
Three for the stars
Three for the bars.
Uncover your head to it
And the soldiers who tread to it.
Shout at the sight of it—
The justice and right of it.

The unsullied white of it,
The blue and the red of it,
And tyranny's dread of it!
Here comes the flag!
Cheer it!
Valley and crag
Shall hear it.
Fathers shall bless it,
Children caress it,
All shall maintain it,
No one shall stain it.

Cheers for the sailors that fought on the wave for it!
Cheers for the soldiers that always were brave for it!
Tears for marines who went down in the grave for it!
Prayers for all men and the lives that they gave for it!
Here comes THE FLAG!

As A Kansan Sees Convention

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL.
(Native of Kansas, writer of C. B. D. Column for Central Press.)
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

KANSAS CITY June 14.—So far as I have been able to observe at first hand the Kansas City convention is exactly like all other national political conventions.

Well, that isn't quite fair. I once attended a national convention of the Prohibition party in St. Paul and it was different. Oh, very different. The Prohibitionists apparently didn't give a hang about convention traditions and they just went ahead and fought out all their fights right on the convention floor. They indulged in genuine oratory too. And a great many of the delegates wore suspenders under coats and vests that they discarded at their hotel rooms before going to the hot convention hall.

But other political conventions, those of the major parties are all exactly alike. There are no suspenders in evidence and if there are nobody pretends to see them. There is never any oratory although there is much speaking.

Really I have never heard even a passably good speech at a political convention. And I have attended most of them for a good many years. It is surprising how badly speeches can be made and you don't realize it until you attend one of these conventions. I suppose it's because nobody has anything to say. And yet that is no bar to good speaking on the lecture platform. The best lectures I ever heard had exactly nothing to say but they said it beautifully.

These speeches at Kansas City are —well, convention speeches. Have you read any of them clear through? No, there you are. Well neither would you listen all the way through if you didn't have to.

A convention speaker has his audience guaranteed and that is always a bad thing for a speaker. It cramps his style. That's why much pulpit oratory is not up to the preacher's best.

To make a speech really telling it ought to be delivered on a subject close to the speaker's heart and all the exits ought to be open wide all the time and nobody ought to be paid to listen. Then there'd be some great speaking again as there was in the days of Demosthenes.

Oratory flourishes most in the south. Why? Plain as bathing beauty in her dish-washing clothes? The air is balmy in the south and exists are always open. Maybe Houston will produce a good speech. But maybe not, too. It's to be a political convention and the reporters and delegates will have to sit and listen just as though the doors were all locked.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THREE GUESSES

At Bobolink's last remark the little Rabbit's ears twitched with surprise. And, Peter was so curious he had to interrupt Bobolink's story with a question.

"Where were you Bobolink?" cried he.

"Over on Ostrich Farm!" chirped Mrs. Bobolink, taking the story out of her husband's beak. "And what fun we had there! Shall we tell them about it Bob?"

"Say yes, Mr. Bobolink. Please, please! Tell us, do!" And the combined pleas of the boy and the two rabbits were more than the good natured little Bobolink could resist. So off on another tale he started.

"As I think I said before, wife and I had flown up to the branch in the tree and we perched there so long, hoping that Mex or Trumpeter would return, that we must have dropped to sleep again.

"It was hot, or we would never have done such a thing. Fall to sleep in a tree! Imagine it! But at any rate, we heard a terrible roar. Frightened, we almost tumbled from the branch. Just in time we caught ourselves from tumbling right into the open mouth of—what do you think?"

Bobolink stopped chirping and swayed back and forth upon his clover stalk. Peter and the Rabbits were as curious as they could be.

"How could we know whose mouth you nearly fell into?" cried the three in chorus. "Do tell us, quick."

But Bobolink only swayed the faster.

"Guess!" said he, and his wife chuckled teasingly.

"No. Guess again," commanded Bobolink.

"Perhaps it was a fox," said Mrs. Gray Rabbit, timidly and under her breath, looking nervously over her shoulder as she spoke.

"No. Try once more," chuckled Bobolink. "It's the boy's turn now." Peter thought for a moment.

"Now I have it!" cried he. "You said you heard a roar. Bobolink, I'll bet you nearly tumbled into the open-mouth of a lion!"

Bobolink shook his head.

"Wrong again. Three guesses and not one of you has come near to the truth!"

"SAY YES, MR. BOBOLINK, PLEASE! TELL US."

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER Tops Uniontown's famous hill at 60-mile speed

World's Champion Car
Levels Mountain Grades

OVER the top of Uniontown Hill at 60 miles an hour! That's the spectacular performance of a strictly stock model Studebaker Commander Sedan, sweeping aside decisively the best previous record of 51 miles an hour.

And that is not all! As further clinching assurance of The Commander's unmatched mountain climbing ability, it later swept up the heart-breaking, tortuous grade and over the top at 31 miles an hour, with 14 persons swarming upon its running boards (a total of 2296 pounds).

Automobile editors of Pittsburgh newspapers were passengers in The Commander and certified the exact speeds attained. Pittsburgh police certified the accuracy of the speedometer. Mayor L. S. Crawford of Uniontown and scores of spectators observed the tests before dawn on May 26.

"A Ball of Fire"

—that's what one owner calls his Commander. "A 'hill hound'—knocks the 'l' out of altitude," writes another. "If my Commander had claws it could climb trees," declares a third. When this World's Champion car can be bought for $1435 f. o. b. factory, why be content with less?'

40 Miles an Hour the Day You Buy It

Studebaker engineering genius, quality materials, precision manufacture and rigid inspections, permit you to drive your Commander or any other Studebaker-built car 40 miles an hour the day you buy it—and at top speed hour after hour later on. You need change motor oil but once in 2,500 miles—and President, Commander and Dictator models require chassis lubrication only after each 2,500 miles.

Studebaker has proved the speed, endurance and power of every one of its four great lines of cars—The President Straight Eight, The Commander, The Dictator, and the Erskine Six. In four price fields—$795 to $2485—Studebaker offers you champion cars—each backed by Studebaker's 76 years of manufacturing integrity.

Seventy Lodges Of Red Men Order Under Suspension

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., June 14—With seventy lodges, having a total membership of 10,000 expelled from the organization by the Great Council, the annual convention of the Improved Order of Red Men of Pennsylvania entered its final session here today.

The council's action was announced late yesterday, making permanent the temporary suspensions enforced at the meeting at Norristown last year. The council's decision was made after the insurgents had filed a petition in court here for an injunction restraining the council from collecting a special tax of 20 cents per capita.

Lumber Company Opens Store Room

Curry Lumber Company Displays Home Equipment At Downtown Storeroom

One of the most unique storerooms in New Castle was opened this morning by the Curry Lumber company in charge of Earle Book. The storeroom, instead of the usual, display of merchandise, contains instead things for the home beautiful and also the home comfortable.

Among the many things that one will find at the display, which is permanently located near the East Washington street bridge are built in breakfast sets, built in wall safes, telephone cabinets, china cabinets, ironing boards, one-piece mantles and plumbing fixtures.

It is planned, states Mr. Book, to change the display once every week so that prospective home builders will have the advantage of seeing all the new developments. This display is augumented by another one which shows modern plumbing fixtures.

Suffered 8 Years With Eczema

After Other Remedies Failed, Ends Skin Trouble Quickly This Simple Way.

"You may be interested to know that for about 8 years I was suffering with a skin trouble I called Eczema. It affected me in two different parts of my body. A short time ago I noticed your ad in a newspaper for Peterson's Ointment. I purchased a box. I must add that I have tried almost avery known remedy and failed. I will proudly admit that your remedy has proven the best and has not been half used up yet."—Ray O. Nesbet, Augusta, Me.

Other remedies may fail, but the success of Peterson's Ointment is so certain that druggists all over America are glad to recommend it, for eczema, pimples, acne, ulcers and all skin eruptions—35 cents a box—at your druggist.

New Kensington Dancers May Set World's Record

If New Kensington Contest Is Still Going Tonight It Will Be 260 Hours

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 14. — Five dance marathons, one of which may break the world's record tonight were being held in Pittsburgh and adjacent towns today.

Marathoners at New Kensington, if still dancing at 10 o'clock tonight, will have danced 260 hours, one hour more than the record made at Chicago. Today, at the 248th hour of the dance, three couples were still in the contest.

At Duquesne Garden, Pittsburgh, 101 couples were dancing in a marathon that started last night with one more couple.

Six couples were still in the race at New Brighton whose marathon started last Sunday night. They have been dancing for five days.

At a Pittsburgh theater, four couples were dancing in the 155th hour of this affair. At the fifth marathon, a Pittsburgh contest for negroes, 22 couples were dancing at the 86th hour.

The "Luxury" of a Clay Pack

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Do you regard a clay pack as one of those delightful inventions for those who can pay to look young? When your own face seems to sag, looks swallow and tired do you simply accept it as "one of those things?"

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

All it needs is care. A tired skin can be remarkably refreshed by my simple clay pack.

Get a tube of Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay and apply it as directed. When you wash it off the gentle, purging action of the clay leaves a pleasant afterglow. The pores are freed of tiny, blemishing clots of dirt which become imbedded and, particularly in oily skins, form blackheads. Your face is thoroughly freed from these obstructions and the pores can function normally. The clay also is an astringent, leaving the pores closed, the skin firm and clear.

My White Youth Clay is the only product of its kind of which I know. It is dainty and agreeable to use. Get it at any toilet counter, in several sizes.

Facts About Optometry

By ARTHUR B. FOSTER

OPTOMETRIST,

449 East Washington Street

The better informed patient consults the Optometrist for the good to his sight which he hopes to receive. No one should visit the Optometrist to buy a pair of glasses, but rather to consult him regarding the patient's vision, and to undergo an examination to determine the condition of the eyes.

That is, the patient makes a professional call upon the Optometrist. If the result of the visit should show the need of glasses, the Optometrist would supply them. Otherwise not.

Mrs. Ada B. Clodfelter, above, enjoys the unique distinction of being owner, mayor and postmistress of the little town of Garber, Mo. Garber was in a bad way until Mrs. Clodfelter, a wealthy widow, came along and purchased 160 acres on which Garber is situated. In return the 50 townspeople have elected her mayor. She has also received the appointment of postmistress.

Cangy Found Guilty; Aggravated Assault And Battery Charge

Paris Cangy of this city was found guilty of aggravated assault and battery on Earl Herbert of Wampum by a jury at court Wednesday afternoon. The case was tried before Judge Chambers.

It was claimed that Cangy knocked Herbert unconscious at a carnival held at Wampum. His brother Paul, who went to his assistance, was also knocked down. Cangy claimed that he was acting in self defense, but according to testimony of the commonwealth he struck the first blow when he knocked Earl Herbert down.

Claimed Driver Of Auto Was Intoxicated

Steve Vuksan, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, is on trial today in court before Judge Hildebrand. It is claimed that Vuksan ran into another car at Willow Grove, and that when officers arrived he was found to be badly intoxicated.

Constable Bryan, of Union township, who, with other officers was summoned, testified that he had placed Vuksan in his car and brought him to the city lockup. Later an information was made before Alderman Marshall. Constable Bryan said that Vuksan was still drunk when taken into the mayor's office.

Hall To Attend Credit Gathering At Kansas City

Ray F. Hall, manager of the New Castle Credit Exchange will leave New Castle Friday evening for Kansas, City, Mo., where he will represent the local credit bureau at the 16th annual convention of the National Credit association.

One of the features of the convention, states Mr. Hall, will be two speeches delivered by men prominent in the Pennsylvania credit world. James D. Hays, secretary-manager of the Harrisburg bureau will speak on the "Credit Bureau and the Credit Man" while A. B. Buckeridge, president of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Pennsylvania and manager of the Pittsburgh Credit Bureau will speak on "Financial Problems of the Large and Small Bureaus."

Both Mr. Hays and Mr. Buckeridge attend the Pennsylvania Credit Mens' convention which took place in New Castle last month.

Leave For Europe; Will Make Tour

Two New Wilmington Women In Party On Tour; Other News Of Town

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, June 14. — Europe's fascinating call reached New Wilmington today when two local people, Miss Elizabeth Stewart of the faculty of Westminster college and Miss Mary Braham of Sandy Lake high school faculty left here by train for New York City from whence they will sail to Europe. Mrs. C. F. Skinner of an Ohio university is a third member of the local party.

Saturday morning the group will sail on the Leviathan for France where they will spend two weeks traveling. From Paris the college town people will travel through Italy and Switzerland for a short time.

However, for the bulk of their stay in Europe, the three teachers will study French at Sorbonne university in Paris. They will embark at Cherbourgh for the trip home on September 10.

Two social functions were held in the college town here at the beginning of this week. Mrs. Clare Wagoner held a surprise party in her home on High street Monday evening to honor the birthday of her husband. On the same evening, Miss Mona Sowash held an informal bridge party at the home of her mother on Waugh avenue.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church held a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. E. Ramsey Tuesday evening. Mrs. R. R. Reese, president of the society, conducted the meeting after which refreshments were served.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. C. McQuiston motored to here from Cochranton today to make a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. D. H. McQuiston. On their trip home, they will be accompanied by their daughter, Miss Minniebelle McQuiston who has been visiting here.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, June 14.—Zealous efforts of Earl Carroll to wipe out memories of his recent stay in Atlanta prison with a musical revue exceeding in gorgeousness anything ever done on Broadway has sent the beauty market shooting up and started a war among producers. Carroll has been raiding other shows for pulchritude, winning girls with record salary offerings.

Despite exaggerated reports to the contrary, Flo Ziegfeld has been paying his prize beauties $65 a week, with most of the girls getting less. Other producers have lower salary scales. Carroll is offering from $125 to $300 a week for the best lookers, among them Gladys Glad, Katheryn Burke and Dolores Grant. These are "show girls" as distinguished from chorus girls. They need not have singing or dancing talent; all they have to do is look pretty.

The "champagne bath' man intends to charge $11 nightly for first floor seats. No Broadway revue has ever obtained so much, except for openings.

Beauties of the class mentioned above sometimes earn more outside of a show than they do in—as long as they are in it. Being a member of the chorus of a famous hit gives them added value as models for artists, advertising illustrations, etc., and as after-show performers in night clubs. They also are much sought as mannequins for style shows and as movie extras. Girls who draw $500 a week dividends from beauty are not exceptional.

* * *

Despite the demand for statuesque beauties, Broadway is thronged with jobless chorines. Girls from road shows. Girls from burlesque. Girls from movie revues. Girls from shows that aren't so particular about face and figure. Conditions always are made worse at this season of the year by the influx of newcomers; every college and every town contributes its quota. The attractiveness of Hollywood has not made Broadway any less a magnet.

The seasoned campaigners among the girls form groups to live co-operatively during the lean period. Some depend on remittances from homes they don't want to go to. Many impose on the landladies who are used to being paid only in winter. Some get vacation jobs in stores or go to resorts as waitresses or hostesses. When autumn suggests itself, all flock back to what is to them the only street in the world, frequently quitting good jobs to gamble for poorer ones. Show business never releases its hold upon the affections of those it captures.

* * *

I am pleased to report that the demand for college boy jazz players has fallen off. Cafe and restaurant men and resort operators, noting a return to favor of slower music and sweeter pieces, are reducing their orchestras and changing programs to conform to the new trend. Radio is making it unnecessary for many smaller places to have musicians.

There is, however, a larger call for college boys who qualify as bridge experts. Resort employment agencies report a demand for boys who can instruct guests in the game or act as partners for lone wives.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—More than 1,100 students, the largest number ever to be graduated from Temple university, today received degrees and certificates at the 42nd annual commencement exercises at the university here.

The exercises which are expected to constitute the biggest and most brilliant event of its kind ever staged by the university will be featured by the awarding of honorary degrees to four prominent men.

The degrees of Doctor of Laws will be conferred upon the Right Rev. Thomas James Garland, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Howard Furness, Jr., eminent Shakespearean scholar of this city. Dr. John A. H. Keith, superintendent of public instruction of the commonwealth, will receive the degree of Doctor of Pedagogy while the degree of Doctor of Divinity will be conferred upon the Rev. Robert B. Whyte, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian church, Philadelphia.

Dr. Whyte will deliver the commencement address.

Announce Result Of Board Election

A. D. Mornes, Charles T. Metzler, Thomas Hartman, George E. Lyon and Chester Reynolds were elected as the board of directors for the New Castle Y. M. C. A. at a recent meeting of the Y. membership and directors, states Robert E. Meermans, general secretary of the organization. R. A. McKinney was presiding officer of the meeting.

All of these men, states Mr. Meerman's, have been active directors of the Y. M. C. A. for several years, and the association in having their continued support as directors of the organization.

DURANT

BREAKS ALL RECORDS FOR THE PAST FIVE YEARS

In May, Durant Plants shipped 18,125 cars, exceeding April by 15.4% and the best previous record since 1923 by over 29%.

This is no chance occurrence—it is a result of consistent gains begun last Fall, when the main plant at Elizabeth, New Jersey, broke all records for September, October and November.

March, April and May have exceeded the best previous three months' total for all time at the Elizabeth Plant by 57%.

At the close of business of each of these months there have been more unfilled orders on hand than ever before in the company's history. Even with this record-breaking May production the same condition holds true.

THIS BRILLIANT SUCCESS IS UNIVERSAL

*In California

One of the world's most critical buying markets, the Durant line was FIRST or tied for first place in 72 cities and towns in the month of April; SECOND or tied for second place in 47 cities and towns.

*In New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Detroit

Key cities of the Industry, Durant showed a gain of 44.9% in registrations for the first three months of 1928 over the corresponding period of 1927.

*In All States

Durant showed a gain of 19% for the first three months of 1928 over the corresponding period of 1927 in spite of the lost time due to getting new models into dealer's hands after January 1st.

In Foreign Countries

April broke all previous export sales records, and shipments for the first four months of 1928 showed an increase of 30% over the same four months period of any other year.

Now, May 1928, has surpassed May 1927 by 300%.

*April state registrations are the latest available.

There certainly must be a reason for this continued expression of universal public confidence and approval for Durant Products—Fours, Sixes and Trucks—$595 to $1550, f. o. b. Lansing, Mich.

There is an eager purchaser waiting for every Durant car. Have you driven one?

Build Cook Shack At Boy's Y Camp

Preparations Being Made For Opening Of Y Camp On July 5

So that more room will be available for the boys, the Y. M. C. A. is putting up a cook shack at their camp site on the Slippery Rock creek, declares Robert L. Meermans, who, in company with four of the workers at the Y, spent Wednesday morning at the camp getting it in readiness for the coming season which opens July 5.

The first section, designed for younger boys, which will go into camp July 5 and return July 19, is completely filled. In fact, several applicants had to be turned away. But Mr. Meermans announces that younger boys can be taken care of in the older boys section, going to camp July 19 and returning to New Castle August 2.

Indian, Blind, Ill Quits Doctors For Tribal Herbs, Well

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 14—Confined to his bed for two years aparently paralyzed and blind since July, 1927 Elijah Lickers an Indian of this city, six weeks ago turned from the white man's medicine to the herbs of his fathers. Today apparently a healthy man and with his sight restored he has a job digging ditches.

Lickers was taken ill in November 1926 while in Stoney Mountain penitentiary near Winnipeg The atack he believes was the result of lifting a heavy iron bar to show his strength. His condition gradually grew worse an last March he was paroled to his brother. Prison authorities informed the brother they believed there was no hope for the invalid.

A local physician was unable to help him. A buttermilk treatment was then tried and failed to produce any tangible results.

Six weeks ago a fellow Indian by the name of Silversmith prescribed an herb medicine. Within three days Lickers began to show improvement. Yesterday he appeared at a local employment agency seeking work. The ditch digging job was offered and accepted.

Chicago District To Have Biggest Inland Harbor In World

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 14.—The largest inland harbor in the world, a $4,000,000 project at Lake Calumet, will be built shortly, according to announcement of state authorities, as another step in the development of the great Calumet industrial district of Chicago.

Two million yards of lake bottom will be dredged out, according to present plans, at the rate of 400,000 cubic yards a month, to provide depth sufficient to accommodate the draft of large lake vessels.

Development of the Calumet district already has brought it to a point well on the way to being the world's largest industrial district, it was pointed out, and construction of further water facilites will hasten that development.

The two million yards of dirt and clay removed from the bottom of the lake, is to be thrown around the lake as an embankment. A municipal belt line railroad and a motor highway are to be constructed later on this embankment.

Work on the initial unit of the harbor is expected to get under way within thirty days, according to Leslie Small, state director of purchases and construction.

Lake traffic, carrying coal, iron, grain and other commodities will be diverted from the Chicago river to the harbor.

Men, Posing As Women Worry Rich Members Of Club

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 14.—Men posing as women have within the last few days attempted to hold up motorists on their way to the Uniontown Country club. Complaints have been made that in a half dozen instances women or men dressed in a female garb, have run out in front of machines in an effort to stop them. Officers believe that holdups were planned and that, had the driver stopped, he no doubt would have been slugged and robbed.

To strengthen the opinion of masquerading highwaymen, officers found a woman's hat and a flashlight along the road. Some of Uniontown's wealthiest men and women travel the country club road.

Eight Science Martyrs Listed In Past Year

NEW YORK, June 14.—The names of at least eight men have been added during the last year to the list of "martyrs of science"—research workers who have given their lives in the quest for knowledge.

Dr. Hideyo Noguchi, bacteriologist with the Rockefeller Foundation's West African yellow fever commission, was a victim of a disease whose organism he had succeeded in isolating. His passing recalled that Dr. Adrian Stokes, London pathologist, and R. Guillet, a French scientist, had succumbed to the fever a few months before while studying it in the same locality.

Records kept by the American Association for Medical Progress here show that five other men have given their lives for science in recent months. Dr. Alvaro Alvin, a Brazilian roentgenologist, died on May 21 as the result of his experiments with X-rays, which mutilate so many of the investigators who study them. Dr. Alvin had lost both hands.

Dr. Maxime Menard, French roentgenologist, died in Paris from the effects of similar researches. The death of George C. Williams, London radiologist, on April 10 was directly attributable to his studies, which had claimed one hand and part of the other. He had undergone forty opefations.

Dr. Alexander Bogdanov, a Russian, lost his life after transfusing the blood of a tubercular student to himself on the theory that he had found a way to build up a resistance to the disease. The student recovered, but the experiment was fatal to Bogdanov.

Another hero of science in the last year was Dr. S. Rawson Wilson, an English anaesthetist. He had done special work on the physiology of anaesthetized persons and was seeking a form of general anaesthesia that would permit the patient to retain consciousness. He died last September while experimenting on himself.

"The passing of a scientist does not call for parades of brass bands," says Dr. Benjamin O. Gruenberg, managing director of the association. "There is nothing spectacular in the pursuit of elusive 'germs.' There are no theatrical exhibitions of prowess before cheering multitudes. The heroic element is without display and without pose. A Noguchi accepts the risks along with the hardships and the successes as part of the day's work."

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 14.—Revival of the famous "Flambeau Parade," which is being planned for June 11th, the night preceding the opening of the Republican National Convention here, promises to be one of the most elaborate and novel affairs ever attempted at a political convention. Many modern contrivances will augment the old celebration.

Combined with features reminiscent of the old fashioned processions will be novelties which could not have been provided in the days when science was less advanced.

The first section of the parade will be devoted to Kansas City.

The second section, however, will be composed of out-of town political organizations to boost their favorite candidate.

Farm Fight Is Taken To Floor Of Convention

Resolutions Committee Places O. K. On Final Draft Of National Platform

CONTENTS ARE KEPT SECRET

Efforts To Effect Compromise On Farm Relief Meets With Failure

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 14—The farm relief fight, on which the allies have based their hope to stop Hoover, was transferred from the resolutions committee to the convention floor today.

After wrestling for two nights and a day over the draft, and keeping the convention waiting, the committee today placed its final OK on the 1928 National Republican platform. While its contents were carefully guarded until its presentation to the convention by Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman, the gist of the main planks of the platform were revealed by Senators Borah of Idaho and Bingham of Connecticut, as follows:

Rejects the equalization fee and the McNary-Haugen bill in favor of a cooperative marketing plan and higher tariff rates on farm products.

Pledges the party and its nominees to vigorous enforcement of the 18th amendment.

Provides for periodical publication of all campaign funds, and pledges the party not to go into debt.

Compromise Fails

Last minute efforts to effect a compromise in the committee between the administration and Hoover forces and the farm belt representatives over the agricultural plank met with failure. The latter group refused to yield on the equalizaticn fee principle and announced they would seek to substitute it on the floor for the committee's farm plank.

On a test of strength, the committee voted 35 to 15 to reject the allies' proposal. Representatives of Illinois, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Florida, Arkansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, West Virginia, Michigan, Montana, Georgia, Hawaii and Alaska were reported to have voted for the fee principles.

Little hope exists, even among the most sanguine farm leaders, that the regular plank can be upset. Evidence of how firmly the Hoover people are riding in the saddle was furnished during the consideration by the entire committee of the platform draft prepared by the sub-committee. Hours on end were consumed in debate, the party managers were warned of a possible bolt in the Middle West in November, and other dire things were predicted, but save farm relief, all planks, even including the contentious dry plank, were approved with scarcely one voice to say nay.

Even the threatened fight apparently fell flat, because Senator-elect Vare of Pennsylvania, who proposed modification of the Volstead Act, declared he wouldn't present a minority report to the convention.

Senator Lafollette of Wisconsin, will offer on the floor the so-called Wisconsin platform as a substitute for the one approved. It was voted down in committee.

It was apparent from the result that the committee could have approved the platform within a few hours if the leaders had so desired.

The Atlanta judge who pretended to settle a presidential dispute between two club women has just cut out more work for the appellate courts.—Savannah Press.

Camp Season This Year Is June 30 Until August 25, Inclusive

Miss Phyllis Beal is director of the Y. W. C. A. camp at East Brook this summer. Counselors for the Y. W. camp have been named. They are Miss Anne Cain and Miss Frances Myers. Miss Margaret Reed will be camp secretary.

Miss Cain, a graduate of the physical education department of Slippery Rock State Normal, will direct the physical activities at camp.

Miss Myers, also a graduate of Slippery Rock State Normal and specializing in nature study, will have charge of nature study at camp.

By spending your vacation days at Camp East Brook you can enjoy many outdoor activities. The program for camp will include baseball, basketball, goffy golf, speed ball, horseshoes, tennis, swimming, picnics, overnight hikes, nature study, camp craft, first aid, boating, parties, etc.

Registration for camp can be made by calling the office of the Y. W. C. A., 748. This should be done at once as registrations are coming in every day and the camp capacity is limited.

Victrola records are needed at camp. Persons having records they do not care for any more, if you would like to give them for this purpose, call the Y. W., 748.

BOY SCOUT Activities

TROOP 5

Troop 5 will meet this evening at the Elks club with Scoutmaster Ralph F. Davis in charge. All members are requested to be present as an election of patrol leaders will take place.

NEW WILMINGTON

New Wilmington troop 1 held their last meeting at their troop camp at New Wilmington last Tuesday evening. Scoutmaster Jack Hulme was in charge of the large number of scouts present.

Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock the scouts posted advertisements in the town to advertise the coming Chautauqua. The scouts expect to take a big part in making this a big event.

Thomas Rogers, Jr., scribe.

BOY SCOUT BAND

Under the leadership of Harry Truschel and Scoutmaster Ralph F. Davis, the Boy Scout band met for rehearsal Wednesday evening at the Elks club. Committeemen Lindner and Carson were also present.

Two numbers were practiced and the rest of the time was devoted to a feed given by the troop, prepared by Fred Wilkes and Sol Davis.

C. G. Lindner and Terry Carson spoke to the boys and offered their help in every way to make the band successful. A full attendance is expected next Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

Preparations will be made for the show on June 29.

TROOP 5

Scoutmaster Ralph F. Davis requests that all Boy Scouts bring their camporee equipment to the meeting this evening at the Elks home.

Secures Contract For Hotel Addition

David L. Shields, a well known contractor of this city, has secured the contract to erect a large addition to a hotel at Meadville. The addition will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. It is to be erected of brick and is of fireproof construction. Mr. Shields has already started work on the contract.

Stop Feet From Burning And Aching This Very Night

Soreness All Gone By Morning

You've got to get under the surface if you want to get rid of foot agony and misery—the distressing trouble is more than skin deep.

What your poor, inflamed feet are craving for is Joint-Ease—a penetrating, soothing, healing emollient that you can rub on tonight and banish the agony while you sleep.

You probably will never know what real foot comfort is till you give them a good rubbing with Joint-Ease.

Millions who have suffered untold agony from burning feet, but who can now walk miles without discomfort know this and you can get the same blessed relief this very night if you will put your faith in Joint-Ease.

Suppose you get a 60 cent tube today from any druggist in America with the distinct understanding that your feet are better—very much better in the morning—or money back.

On that basis you don't risk a penny. But give them a good rubbing so that Joint-Ease will have a chance to get to the seat of the trouble.

Rocco To Box At Jolly Bowl

Dunn And Cumo Agree To Show Rocco Here Night Of June 25

SHARKEY REFUSES TO BATTLE ROCCO

Arrangements were completed today for the formal opening of the Jolly bowl, dedicated to boxing, June 25, and Emmett Rocco of Ellwood City will box against some satellite of the ring, according to Bill Jolly, promoter and Jimmie Dunn and Joe Cumo, the latter duo being the pilots of the big boy from Ellwood.

Emmett had accepted an engagement to box Jack Sharkey at Cincinnati, June 25, but at midnight last night Jim Buckley of New York, manager of Sharkey informed Promoter Jimmie Shevlin that Sharkey did not wish to box Rocco.

Today Bill Jolly fired a message to Al Lippe, manager of Battling Levinsky offering to match him against Rocco who wants a return go, inasmuch as Akron newspapers gave Levinsky a decision over Emmett a few nights ago.

According to Joe Cumo and Rocco, the latter defeated Levinsky but inasmuch as the newspaper accounts differ with their version Rocco stepped forward and said he would be willing to fight Levinsky, who apparently is making much of the decision.

Should Levinsky not care to again meet Rocco, Promoter Jolly will secure some other heavyweight as Rocco has been signed to appear in the first show.

Higher Morals Chief Cause Of "Divorce Evil"

BY FRANCIS ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 14—Higher standards of morality are the chief cause of the much discussed "divorce evil," in the opinion of Dr. F. K Fretz, former head of the sociology department of Temple University, Philadelphia.

Two other major causes for divorce are cited by Dr. Fretz:

Industrialism, which gives married women their economic independence and removes the financial necessity which formerly kept marriages from going on the rocks

Late marriages, entered into after the participants have become set in their habits and ideas.

Family life, Dr Fretz believes, is not less successful than it was thirty of forty years ago but more so.

"Divorce is a sign that the wife of today demands more than she did a few years ago from her husband.

Conditions Changed.

"The whole fabric of marriage has been changed. A few years ago a lot of things were overlooked. Why? Because the wife was not in a position to object to a lot of things, and people lived together unhappily, partly because of the stigma once attached to divorce, and partly because of financial necessity.

"Things once were overlooked which now are valid grounds in nearly every state for divorce.

"The higher standards of morality and family life in general lead to dissatisfaction."

The Philadelphia socialogist believes the divorwce laws of the present day are overclamed for breaking up homes. Instead, he says, they are a healthy sign of awakened morality.

"All year round the newly married couple live under the same roof, occupy the same room and eat the same food. At first there is a rapturous feeling of delight. Then comes a change. The decline of romance, the passing of novelty and the period of disillusionment is a critical epoch. The man falls from his pedestal.

"Every imaginable form of marriage contract has been tried at some time, yet there his none that will insure happiness for all.

"We are now facing a new problem, of companionate marriage that really is little other than common law marriage, working dire injustice on womankind and making men polygamous without financial responsibility."

Working Wives

The new order of "working wives" is blamed by Dr. Fretz with a large responsibility in the divorce question. With their own money, wives now are financially independent of their husbands, he points out. When they have a slight difficulty that feeling of independence causes them to seek divorce immediately. He lists financial freedom as one of the influences tending instability of the marriage contract.

Both men and women should be married before the age of thirty, according to Dr. Fretz. After that, in his opinion, it is difficult for two persons to adopt themselves to each other.

"The elasticity of youth is one of the greatest insurances to marital compatibility. But as man or woman becomes set in habits and temperament, there is greater chance for an irreparable clash of views and dispositions."

Trotzky Never Can Come Back, Says Kerensky

By ROBERT W. THOMPSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 14.—"Trotzky is finished. If he had brushed aside everyone and jumped into the saddle when Lenin died he would have Russia in his grip today with military Communism. But Trotzky lost his chance. He can never come back."

This is the opinion of Alexander Kerensky, former dictator of Russia. Eleven years ago Kerensky had Trotzky arrested, but that time Trotzky "came back". Because he did so Kerensky was obliged to flee from Petrograd in the disguise of a sailor.

Withers In Exile.

Now, it is reported, Trotzky has been left to wither away in a Turkestan exile. Kerensky, who lives in the rue Vineuse, Paris, gave his impressions of his former adversary to the "Petit Journal".

"Trotzky was an extremist through opportunism," he said. "One sentiment dominated him—hatred for England. This hatred caused him to destroy.

"Trotzky never knew how to do not even build up his own political career.

"He lacked audacity. When Lenin died Trotzky could have seized the power, but he did not dare to try. Since then the events he failed to master have crushed him.

Kerensky then told the paper that although he signed the arrest order for Trotzky following an uprising at Petrograd in July, 1917, he was not sure Trotzky took part in that movement. Kerensky was even reported as saying stories of Trotzky being an agent of the German general staff were myths.

"The arrest was merely an administrative measure," Kerensky explained. "I had Lenin pursued but when he hid himself in Finland we could not catch him. I did not liberate Trotzky. That was done by the judge who examined him and found that he did not participate in the pro-German riot. Perhaps that is true. I will not argue against a judicial decision.

Not a Liberal.

"I never believed Trotzky was mixed up in any German plot, because he protested against Berlin's demands at Brest-Litovsk. While peace negotiations were under way Trotzky spouted with indignation.

RECORD TIME

Mose Jackson, black, was up before a magistrate for assault.

"What's your name?" asked the judge.

"Well, judge, your honah, ev'y where Ah go they gives me a new name, but mah maiden name was Mose."

"Tell us, Mose, did you strike this man in an excess of irascibility?" the lawyer for the prosecution asked.

"No, boss, Ah done hit him in the stummick."

"Now, Mose, tell us what he did after you hit him," pursued the prosecution, which wanted to prove that Mose's blow had incapacitated the plaintiff.

"He done ran."

"You say he ran?"

"Yessah, yessah, he done ran, all right."

"You're sure he ran?"

"Ah sure is."

"Well, did he run fast?"

"Did he run fa—say, boss, ef dat culled man had a had just one pin feather in his hand he'd a flew!"

One Fatality For Every Three Miles Of Highway

If a cross were placed along the roadside for every person killed in an automobile accident during the last ten years, it would mean on to approximately every three miles of improved highway in the United States is the startling statement made this morning by Bernard N. Hanlon, secretary-treasurer of the New Castle Motor club, who bases his figures on a death toll of about 175,000 on streets and highways and the present system of 600,000 miles of improved roads.

If these crosses were to be confined to one trans-continental highway, continues Mr. Hanlon—such as the Lincoln, stretching 3,200 miles across the country—there would be five crosses for every mile of roadway.

Turning to the non-fatal accidents on the highways of the country Mr. Hanlon says that if a marker were placed for every person injured in an accident there would be two to every mile of road of all types in the country. This is based on an average of 29 injured for every person killed and about 3,000,000 miles of roads improved and unimproved.

"If the automobile death rate should continue at the present rate for the next two decades the toll on the highways will exceed 520,000 persons, or the total population of Milwaukee, Wis., or Washington, D. C.," concludes Mr. Hanlon. "Careful estimates of the total highway fatalities for 1927 is found to be the appalling number of 26,000 human lives. And this gives an estimated total of 725,000 serious personal injury accidents.

"Automobile death rates have been gaining steadily since 1908 and every year up to 1927 shows a mounting toll. During the second decade, from 1918 to 1927, more than five persons were killed in automobile accidents for every person killed during the decade of 1908 to 1917. The deaths have increased steadily along with the gain in the number of machines used.

"With this, naturally goes a great economic loss. And of course this economic loss while it cannot fail to retard our national prosperity, is negligible when compared with the humanitarian aspect of the safety problem."

Salesmen Banquet At The Castleton

Sixty Attend Dinner Event From Five Or Six Counties On Wednesday

Because they won the sectional contest, sixty salesmen from Lawrence, and Butler counties and the city of Sharon were banqueted at The Castleton Thursday evening by the Maytag Sales, Incorporated. The contest, which closed recently, was between the men who were banqueted and the representatives of the company in Beaver and Armstrong counties, and the city of Vandergrift.

Immediately preceding the dinner, many pep songs were sung by the 60 salesmen. After the meal, they heard addresses by George E. Hartman of Pittsburgh, divisional manager of sales; N. M. Douglass of Grove City, assistant divisional manager of sales; John Young of New Brighton and J. G. Logan and G. A. Holman of New Castle.

Fairview Grange Memorial Program

Grange Members Observe Memorial And Home Coming Program

Quite a number of past members of the Fairview Grange were present at the Memorial and Home Coming program held Thursday, June 7.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Norman McHattie. Mr. and Mrs. John Glasser and Oliver Stickle sang special numbers during the program. Readings were given by Mrs. J. Glasser and Mrs. Hill. John Glasser read the roll of deceased members and made fitting remarks. Flowers were placed on the altar by Myrtle Shaffer.

Following the Memorial program, a special program was given for the past members. Piano selections were given by Mrs. J. Glasser, a song by a mixed quartet, reading by John Lamb, guitar and mandolin duet by Myrtle and Jesse Shaffer, History of our Grange by Mrs. John Glasser, a one-act play—Hiram and the Peddlars, Harmonica and Harp duet by Norman McHattie and John Glasser.

After the special program lunch was served.

Children's Day At First Baptist Church

Children's Day will be observed on Sunday, June 17, in the First Baptist church with an attractive program by the children of the beginners, primary and junior departments.

The exercises will begin at 10:30 a. m. and continue through the morning preaching services. Music and recitations will be special features of the morning.

The platform will be decorated by the committee, including J. Allen Porte, R. E. Elmore and Harry Remley.

Twenty Six Answer Present To Roll Call 50 Years Old At Gaston School Reunion

Reunion of the teachers and members of the Gaston and Cascade Way Sunday schools and Sheephill and Cascade Way public schools, held Wednesday at Gaston park, was the most interesting, well attended and unique of all such gatherings ever held.

Originally a reunion of the members and teachers of the Gaston Sunday school organized by the late John McKay, it now includes the other three schools of the same district and is growing in interest each year.

Present 50 Years Ago.

Featuring the affair Wednesday was the presence of 26 persons, who were able to answer present at this reunion, and who had been present as small children at the first reunion held in Wright's woods, July 4, 1878.

Sidney McKay, St. Cloud, Fla., was present after an absence of five years, and was the principal speaker of the occasion. He is a son of John McKay, founder of the Gaston Sunday school.

Upon the arrival of the people at Gaston park Wednesday, they were registered by the reception committee consisting of Mrs. Scott B. Hamilton, chairlady; Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Mary Caldwell, Mrs. John Wright and Mrs. Chauncey Yoho.

Special transportation was provided from Arlington avenue and East Washington street to the scene of the reunion. At noon all were seated at one long table together and enjoyed a fine picnic dinner.

The committee in charge of this very successful feature of the reunion consisted of Mrs. Kate Black, chairlady; Mrs. Charles Alborn, Mrs. Lottie Maitland, Mrs. Rose Book and Mrs. Grace Kammerer.

Program Starts.

At 1 o'clock Mrs. Howard Magill, the general chairlady and daughter of John McKay, founder of the Gaston Sunday school, called the meeting to order. She then introduced Mrs. Mary Caldwell, chairlady of the entertainment committee, who presided during the balance of the session.

Her first act was to hold a memorial in memory of those deceased since the last meeting. Those whose memory was honored were James Davis, Mrs. Kate Stanley Pitzer, Thomas Book and Emanuel Weinschenk.

Sidney McKay, St. Cloud, Fla., honor guest and principal speaker of the occasion, was then introduced and received an ovation, it being five years since he last attended a reunion.

In his remarks he recalled the first reunion or picnic by the pupils of Gaston Sunday school, which was organized by his father, which was held at Wright's woods July 4, 1878. He named the officers of the school at that time, they being as follows: John McKay, superintendent and organizer and teacher of the Bible class; Mrs. John McKay, teacher of the Young Ladies class; Mrs. Richard Wright, Mrs. Samuel Jackson, Mrs. Esther Whinery, Mrs. Martha Walls, Miss Lydia Graham, Miss Sally Wright, teachers; the Misses Mary Brown and Anna Jackson, organists.

Calls Roll of 50 Years Ago.

He then called a roll of the pupils present at that first picnic and the following persons, who were present at this first picnic 50 years ago, answered present Wednesday: Mary Cooper, Maude Cooper, Ida McKay, Clara Moore, James Moore, Frank Geiger, Abbie Geiger, Maude Whinery, Anne Weinschenk, Edith Sechler, Jerry Blucher, Alwina Hoyland, Isaac Shoaf, Chauncey Yoho, Eva Frey, William Parks, Margaret Ellen Parks, Minnie Kemp, Amelia Bluedorn, Minnie Vanene, Rose Cochran, Annetta Butler, Kate Barber, Blanche Shelar, Anna Burkhart and Lee Parks.

Mr. McKay then paid tribute to Dr. James T. Blackwood and M. W. Leslie, organizers of Cascade Way Sunday school. He then recalled the reunions of the boys and girls of the various public and Sunday schools affiliated in this reunion, many of his remarks recalling humorous incidents of past years, that were again thoroughly enjoyed by all.

He closed with fitting remarks concerning the reunion of five years ago at which he was present, speaking feelingly of those who have passed on since that time and urging the past pupils to get the young people in the schools today to be interested so that the reunions may be perpetuated far into the future.

Kirker Speaks.

Tad Kirker was then called upon and gave a short talk on the various schools and their reunions. It was his suggestion that combined the reunions of the Gaston and Cascade Way Sunday schools and he spoke of their united efforts. He also spoke of the Cascade Way and what Mrs. Scott Hamilton, a teacher in that school, had done in bringing the pupils of that school in line for the reunions.

Mrs. Anna McGurk spoke in behalf of the public school affiliated in the reunion and recalled to the teachers and pupils of both Cascade Way and Sheephill schools. She herself taught in both schools at one time. She was directed by the assembled reunionists to be in charge of the work of getting out the former teachers and pupils again next year. She had charge this year and due to her efforts a large number were in attendance.

Mrs. Joseph Venene, a teacher in the Gaston Way Sunday school, made appropriate remarks in appreciation of the interest shown in the reunions. Jerry Blucher was called upon and recalled the various reunions in detail. James Moore then spoke with regard to the enthusiasm displayed by the people from a distance in attending the event.

Mrs. Emma Frey Schneider of Pittsburgh spoke most interestingly of the school friends present and of the Sunday school picnics of former years and the benefit and pleasure derived in attending.

Mrs. Minnie Tindall then gave several readings in which she used the names of her schoolmates as the characters. Mrs. Fred Smith gave a very pleasing solo.

Mrs. Isaac Shoaf, aged 82 years, a former teacher in the Gaston Sunday school, was the oldest member present. The minutes of the previous reunion were read by the secretary, Mrs. Fred Smith, and approved.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Howard Magill, general chairlady; Mrs. Harry Black, vice chairlady; Mrs. Fred Smith, secretary; Mrs. Mary Caldwell, treasurer. Jerry Blucher was tendered a vote of thanks for transporting the people from the street car line to the park. Pep singing, which consisted of the singing of sacred songs used in the Sunday school years ago, was led by Mrs. Mary Caldwell, former chorister of the school.

It was decided that the next reunion be held the second Wednesday of June, 1929, in Gaston park.

Prospective Nominee Awaits Formal Convention Action Before Announcing Plans

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Herbert Hoover today awaited formal action of the Kansas City convention before broadcasting his plans to the United States.

As soon as the convention names him the Republican "hope" for 1928 he is expected to call in the newspaper correspondents to express appreciation of the nomination and to pledge himself and the party to carry out the platform and the policies of the Coolidge administration.

Experts today "tuned up" Hoover's radio received in the commerce department that the secretary might hear the final words of debate over the platform in the closing lapse of the convention.

Hoover was more interested in the attitude of the speakers than in the balloting now, since his nomination is assured. Particularly he will lend an attentive ear to the demands for farm relief, one of the aims of his campaign that will be stressed in the middle west.

Hoover's generals and aides de' camp are expected here after the convention for a general conference and to lay out their combat plans campaign. No announcement of specific policies, other than support of the platform, is anticipated until after this pow-wow.

Geiger Denies He Was Driving Auto While Intoxicated

Wampum Man Gives Version Of His Arrest After Accident In Seventh Ward

Frank Geiger of Wampum was placed on trial before Judge Chambers in court this morning on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Geiger was arrested in Mahoningtown where it was alleged that he had run into another car. He was brought to the mayor's office where he was examined by Dr. Parlett. The doctor testified that he had examined Geiger and that he was under the influence of liquor.

Geiger in his own behalf denied the charge. He claimed that he had driven from Wampum to Youngtown, starting home from the latter place about 10:30 at night. He had stopped on Beaver street, this city and lunched at a restaurant. Driving on to Mahoningtown, he said that he had turned out to pass a truck which was standing on the street when he ran into another car which was approaching at a high rate of speed.

He was arrested, taken to the Seventh ward fire station and later to the central police station. He said that while he was sitting in the office a physician had come in, went to a desk and filled out a blank. He claimed that the physician had not examined him but had walked past him directly to the desk where the report was made out. Geiger claimed that his foot was cramped and he had limped after getting out of his auto.

Zigmund Kubinsky testified that he was in the vicinity when the accident occured. He had gone to the fire station when Geiger was taken there. He had heard Geiger talk and observed his manner and was of the opinion that Geiger had not been drinking. He said that he acted normal when he had been asked to show his driver's license.

Eyes Are Injured By Hot Water From An Auto Radiator

Fred Nicklin of the Harlansburg road, met with a painful accident Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Nicklin had stopped at a filling station on the New Castle-New Wilmington road and was standing in front of it when a woman drove up in a car, saying that she would like to have some water placed in the radiator of her machine.

Nicklin got some water and was in the act of taking off the radiator cap, when the scalding water from the radiator gushed out and struck him in the face. He was badly scalded about the eyes and required the services of a physician. While his eyeballs appeared to be scalded it is believed that no permanent injury was done.

Nicklin was standing in front of the bumper and was reaching out at arm's length when he took off the radiator cap. He had not noticed any steam until the cap came off.

Nickel Arcade Pictures In Kansas City Are Not So Obscene Says Writer

By ROLAND KREBS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—It's only fair to the wives of delegates back home that they be tipped off to something just in case they want to send warning postal cards or night letters to their husbands.

The something is a nickel-and-penny arcade just one stagger and two stumbles from convention hall.

With the interests of American womanhood at heart, I went into this cavern of inquity today to see if it were fit for delegates to visit.

The high priced vice is on one side of the long gallery.

That's where all the raw stuff is. You drop not a penny as of old but a nickel into the syquintoscope, it lights up and you turn the crank and peer through the glass at the movies.

Over the first picture machine was a colored photograph of a coy Miss in a bathrobe under the caption, "Her Setting Up Exercises, Or How She Keeps Her Figure."

After turning the crank a couple of times you wonder why she wants to keep that figure.

Naked? Well, her teeth, including the gold crown, were when she smiled.

The exercises? One! She touched the floor with her fingers without bending her knees. Two! She straightened up somehow without falling over. Three! She kicked high with the right foot. Four! Almost as high with the left dog. Five? There wasn't any.

The light went out. A nickel shot!

The next one was called, "What Lures Boys From Home." Well, if your son ever gets lured from home by a girl like this one, he's a sap. Chastely screened most of the time behind a veil resembling a crawfish net, Miss Allure did a few struts called the Dance of the Elf—probably an abbreviation for elfunt. You'd love her robe.

"Hortense of Hollywood," proved to be just a home-girl with aquatic predilections and a penchant for very, very discreet bathing suits. She took a couple of brodies off a spring board and most of the picture was water splashes.

"Scandalous Hollywood"—that must be an awful place!—concerned the swimming activities of several young people. The debauchery began with several musicians in bathing suits standing hip-deep in the pool and raising a disturbance. Everybody danced in a gay-nineties sort of a way. Then everyone dove in and had a nice, healthy, invigorating swim.

Two Lose Lives Due To Hot Wave

Two In Pittsburgh District Are Stricken By Intense Heat Of Wednesday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—With light showers today, this region enjoyed respite from yesterday's sweltering heat wave which took a toll of two lives when the temperature jumped to 83 degrees.

One man, Naggy Shamdor, 55, of Homestead, died in the Homestead hospital after being overcome by heat while working in the Harbison-Walker company plant in Homestead.

The second heat victim was Ignatz Densher, 45, of Pittsburgh, who died last night in his home shortly after being stricken.

Starts Erection Of Six Room Bungalow

William West, proprietor of the Airport garage on the Harlansburg road has started the erection of a six room house a short distance east of his garage. The house will be 24 by 36 feet, of a bungalow type. It will be finished in oak and will contain all the modern conveniences.

New York Delegates Vote Hoover Support

Bulk Of New York State Delegates To Cast Ballots For Commerce Secretary

With Coolidge Out Of Race New Yorkers Seek To Climb On Board Hoover Bandwagon

By RAYMOND L. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—New York's 90 delegates to the Republican National Convention today were swarming all over the Hoover bandwagon apparently anxious to give the Secretary of Commerce the impression that they always have favored him for the presidential nomination if President Coolidge was not available.

At a caucus of the Empire State delegation, called by State Chairman George K. Morris after it was clearly evident that Hoover would be nominated on the first ballot, the poll, with three absent showed:

Hoover, 77.
Dawes, 5.
Hughes, 4.
Lowden, 1.

Former U. S. Senator Jim Wadsworth, who, for the last 24 hours, had been leading the fight in the delegation against Hoover moved that the state's entire 90 votes be cast for the commerce secretary on the first ballot. Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler, vice chairman of the New York executive committee, and one of the five who voted for Dawes on the roll call, seconded the motion and it was adopted unanimously.

Before the delegation was polled, Morris made a brief statement in which he declared the time had come when New York should be for Hoover.

Will Support Hoover

"I have consistently been for the renomination of President Coolidge and have exerted every effort to bring about his nomination," he told the delegates. "At this time it is evident to me that he is unavailable as a candidate. I have not been opposed to any candidate nor have I been partisanly in favor of any candidate except President Coolidge. I think it is clearly evident that Secretary Hoover is to be nominated on the first ballot. In the interest of the party in New York state I shall cast my ballot for Secretary Hoover."

In behalf of Charles D. Hilles, National committeeman, who has been confined to his room several days with a severe cold, Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, National committeewoman, declared the delegation should vote unanimously for Hoover. Hilles was one of the prime movers of the "Draft Coolidge" campaign.

In urging the delegates to support Hoover, Mrs. Sabin pictured Gov. Al Smith, as "our adversary."

"New York will be the pivotal state," she said. "We have only one duty as Republicans and that is to put every ounce of energy back of the movement to defeat Smith."

Ogden L. Mills, under-secretary of the treasury, and one of the original Hoover leaders in New York, today appeared to be emerging from the smoke of the convention as one of the dominant Republican leaders of the Empire State. Indications are that Mills will direct Secretary Hoover's campaign in Governor Smith's own state.

There was some talk in the hotel lobbies that the Hoover forces might attempt to heal any wounds that have been opened at the convention by making Hilles National chairman. This report, however, was not taken seriously by the New Yorkers.

South Jefferson Street Finished

Thoroughfare Has Been Paved Between Terrace And Long Avenues

It was stated today by city engineer department attaches that the Olsen company has completed paving of South Jefferson street between Long avenue and the Big Run and hillside brick on the hill portion of the street.

Pullman Porters In Need Of Chief

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, June 14. — On trains leaving Kansas City today is going the word that what the Pullman Porters of America need is a man of vision at their head. Particularly one who can see well enough to know into whose parade he leads his followers.

Attracted by a band at the head of a parade of farmers carrying Lowden banners, fifty negro porters joined in a march around convention hall shouting for Lowden. The porters want more money from the Pullman company.

Boy Bitten By Dog; Severely Injured

Officer C. C. Lockard answered a call to 765 Lathrop street last night where he found a boy named Louis Carbone, aged 6, had been bitten on the right leg between the knee and the hip by a dog owned by Earl Jordan, 805 Lathrop street. The Carbone boy had bene playing with other children near his home and that of the dog. The dog was on a chain and the boy was attacked and bitten when he got too close to the dog. According to the officer, the indications were that it was the boy's fault that he was bitten.

Garfield Avenue Nearly Completed

Garfield avenue sanitary sewer which is being built between North Mercer street and Wilmington avenue is nearly completed according to engineering department employes of the city today. The sewer was laid by the Olsen company.

Nobile Injured, Is Rome Report

Report In Rome Says Commander Nobile Injured In Crash Of Italia's Gondola

AVIATORS START SEARCHING TOUR

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 14.—General Umberto Nobile suffered injuries to the right leg and arm when the gondola of the Italia crashed to the ground on May 25, advices from Rome stated today.

Copenhagen dispatches stated that Captain Riiser-Larsen and Lieut. Luetzow Holm had started on flights from the steamer Hobby to search for the Italia's crew.

Anxiety is Felt

King's Bay, Spitzbergen, June 14.—Increased anxiety was felt here today for the safety of the Swedish professor Malgren and the Italian navy commanders Zappi and Mariano, the three daring members of the Italia's crew who started a trek across the ice to seek aid after the dirigible crashed on the morning of May 25.

Openings in the ice are becoming more numerous and wider due to the approach of warmer weather. This it is feared, has added further hazards to an otherwise dangerous venture. The men have not been heard from now for twenty days.

The commander of the steamer Braganza today stated that he believed it would be impossible for planes to land anywhere in the region where General Umberto Nobile and his crew are stranded. He said that on his recent attempt to search the northern regions, he met ice ten meters thick.

Meanwhile Nobile and his men are believed to be drifting westward with the ice-floes at a rate of about two miles a day. However, it is believed the wind will soon die down and their progress will be slower toward the open sea.

Couldn't Get Accustomed To Traffic Lights

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Traffic regulations and neat clothing may be perfectly natural to the average American but Major E. R. Lacey, of the West Africa Fever Commission, who was home on his first visit in eight years, just couldn't get used to them.

He was perfectly frank in admitting it, too. And he said he preferred Africa to America. The land of parrots, Pythons, "trade whisky" and savage tribes was more to his liking than the right hand turn and bright colored neck ties of America.

"Ju-Ju," said the major, "is probably a forerunner of voodooism. I never heard of a white man becoming a follower of the mystic art but you can get some idea of what the thing is when white men who have been in Africa for many years swear there is something in it.

"It is plain demonology, with a mixture of cannibalism and age-old superstitions. I once talked to a supposedly educated Negro who boasted of his civilization and then told how his father had, with the aid of Ju-Ju, been shot by many arrows but never bled because he cast spells on himself."

Weston, At 89, Smiles About Bunion Derby; Recalls Famous Feats

CLEVELAND, June 14.—Edward Payson Weston, who is now 89, smiled knowingly when told of C. C. Pyle's Bunion Derby from coast to coast. For Weston far back in 1910, when he was 72 years old walked 100 miles farther from coast to coast than Pyle's boys and he did it in eight days better time, according to William G. Rose, of Cleveland, who has been the famous old walker's counsellor for years.

"Starting Feb. 1, 1910, at Santa Monica, Cal., Rose said, "Weston began a cross-country walk of 3,500 miles, finishing at New York in 76 days and 23 hours. The Pyle derby has run 3,400 miles in 84 days.

"Prior to that Weston walked from New York to San Francisco, a distance of 4,000 miles, starting March 5, 1909 and finished in 104 days. He had to walk 2,500 miles of the way along railroad tracks, for the roads pretty bad in those days and he was blazing a trail."

Use Mock Court To Enforce Safety

PICHER, Okla., June 14.—Crews at the lead and zinc mines here hold weekly mock courts to try offenders against the safety code.

The trials, mining officials say, cause good natured enforcement of rules for the prevention of accidents. The dimes and quarters paid as fines go into a fund for sick and disabled miners and their families.

Ridiculous as well as serious offenses are brought to the attention of these "courts", which extend their jurisdiction to men's vocabularies and impose penalties for profanity. "Cuss" words cost a dime, while smoking near a supply of dynamite calls for the maximum fine of 25 cents.

Besides providing wholesome fun and perhaps saving some lives, the miners' courts have raised several thousand dollars for welfare work.

Hoover Opponents Take Farm Relief Into Convention

Hoover Allies Introduce Minority Report On Agriculture From Committee

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—The allies against Herbert Hoover today carried their farm relief fight to the convention floor with the introduction of a minority report on agriculture from the resolutions committee.

The proposed substitute called for enactment of legislation based on the equilization fee principle of the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill.

Morrow's Gas Station Entered During Night

Officer McKee was making his rounds about 6 a. m. today when he discovered that the glass in the rear door of the Morrow gasoline station, South Mill street, had been broken. On investigation, he found that after breaking the glass, the thief evidently reached in through the opening made and unlocked the door with the key in it. Officer M. J. Young also assisted Officer McKee in the investigation and it was found on the arrival of a Mr. Perry, who is employed at the service station, that there was nothing missing, on the contents of the place being checked up. It is considered possible that the thief hoped to get a large Lincoln car which was in the place.

Autos In Collision At Croton And Haus

Robert E. Russell of Barker avenue, Patterson Heights, Beaver Falls, Pa., reported to the police Wednesday that he was driving west on Croton avenue and that the car of Ira Scott of Slippery Rock, Pa., going east on Croton avenue at Haus avenue suddenly without warning swung left across the street and traffic, heading into Haus avenue. He had no opportunity of stopping and hit and damaged the other car. Ira Scott reported that he was driving east on Croton avenue and saw the other car two blocks away, thinking he had plenty of time to make the turn into Haus avenue. He made the turn with proper signal and the other car hit and damaged his machine.

HERRICK MAY RESIGN

(International News Service)

PARIS, June 14.—An unconfirmed report was circulated here today that Myron T. Herrick, the United States ambassador, will resign on account of ill health.

Vatican Discusses Mexican Religious Situation Affairs

(International News Service)

ROME, June 14.—The congregation of extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs of the vatican held a secret session today to consider the Mexican religious situation.

Monsignor Pietro Vera y Surla bishop of Puabla De Los Angeles, Mexico, who had an audience with Pope Pius XI yesterday, is pessimistic over an immediate solution. He believes that a settlement cannot be arranged until President Calles relinquishes power.

Commence Grading Of Sampson Street

Victor Olsen Contracting company today commenced work on Sampson street which is to be paved between Rebecca street and the city line. The grading process started early today. Concrete is to be the paving material.

The first step in the direction of disarmament has been the gradual elimination of wrist watches.

Here's Speedy Relief for Tender, Aching, Swollen Feet

Moone's Emerald Oil Must Give Complete Satisfaction Or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

Your feet may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture, you'd give anything to get relief.

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And as for Soft Corns and Callouses a few applications each night at bed time and they just seem to shrivel right up and scale off.

No matter how discouraged you have been with powders, footbaths or other applications, if you have not tried Emerald Oil then you have something to learn.

It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.

McKee's Rut Rate Store, New Castle Drug Co., McKinley & Frantz, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and every good druggist guarantees Moone's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

You cannot be attractive without a clear skin

EVERYBODY wants to be attractive. It is a great and just ambition. But no one can be attractive without a clear skin—you know that.

Do you realize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving the health, and that the source of most skin disorders is in the blood?

Remove the cause, which is not in the skin itself, and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs, and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, you don't have that tired, languid feeling when you awake in the morning. Instead, you feel refreshed, ready to meet the world.

Your appetite is keen—you enjoy work or play—your skin is clear, cheeks naturally rosy.

All this because rich, red blood builds and sustains the body.

—purely vegetable

"S.S.S. cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads. I think it a most wonderful blood medicine. Several of my friends are taking it for the same reason I did." Miss Margaret Frye Lapel, Ind.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

Stewart Sees Burton Of Ohio As National Figure Even Now

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—Theodore E. Burton, who has announced his candidacy for the senate, is looked upon as a national figure even when a president is being chosen. Few folk can achieve that.

He is one of the original Ohio Hoover men.

It's a shame that the man who LOOKS the most senatorial of any individual in public life shouldn't BE one. It seems like such a waste of perfectly magnificent raw material.

This shouldn't be interpreted as implying that Congressman Burton is a "good looker", in the ordinary sense of the term. He's far from a beauty. What he does look like is a "great man". I doubt if there's another as imposing a presence at the national capitol.

Burton has a massive figure and massive features and a massive head. He's very old. He somehow suggests solitude, even in the hurly-burly of the house of representatives—something like an aged American eagle, sitting in loneup dignity on his crag, with a lot of sparrows and other small species flitting about, chirping and chattering, while he thinks.

But if he does take a notion suddenly to reach out a claw—bingo! go about two pecks of sparrows at a swipe.

* * *

What's more, the Ohio congressman IS just what he looks like—not an eagle, of course, but one hum-dinger of a formidable old man.

He has to have a massive head, to store his brains.

Speaking of suggestions, he suggests a freight car loaded with pig lead. Standing still, with its brakes set, it's inert enough. But once get it going, on a down grade, and all heck can't stop the dern thing.

* * *

A campaign for the senate is generally considered mighty hard work—especially in a large, populous state like Ohio. It must cover a tremendous amount of ground and an awful lot of people.

Even on comparatively young men, it's a prodigious physical strain.

Burton's nearer the four-score than he is to the 70-year mark, and he takes on the contract as casually as you please.

Well, blame it!—doubtless he can afford to, on account of his evident enormous reserve. He doesn't have to put out his full strength—or any considerable fraction of it. A 10 per cent effort on his part, I'd guess, would be about equivalent to 125 per cent of the average politician's kind.

* * *

Perhaps the reader will infer that I admire this ancient Ohioan. You bet I do.

HE isn't a politician. By this I don't mean that he doesn't understand politics. I imagine that he understands 'em better than any ten men, rolled into one, whose constituents send 'em to Washington. But they're incidental to HIM—a necessary means to an end.

Burton was in the senate once before. When his term ended, he wasn't a candidate for re-election—not interested in any pending question just then—took a seat in the house of representatives simply to keep his hand in. Imagine an ordinary politician making a choice like that! But now it happens that he thinks the time's ripe to work for world peace, and he things he can do it better in the senate than the lower house. Therefore, back into the senate he proposes to go.

"An earnest endeavor to awaken a greater interest of the people in public government, education upon public questions and the development of those moral and spiritual aspirations which are really the crowning distinction of a people"—that's his idea of the duty of a public man.

How does it compare with the usual line of political poppycock?

ONE WOMAN TELLS ANOTHER — By Lily White

Mrs. G. L. Thompson, 915 Warren Ave., says: "Lovely white washes"

"I'd never believe it was really easy to get a snow-white wash, until my grocer told me a secret. "He said, 'Use Rinso'. It happened I had a heavy wash that week, but by using Rinso in my washer the clothes came out so white and spotless that in spite of the water here I didn't have to rub a thing. No wonder he said that 'Rinso makes your week's wash a cinch.'

"Rinso really does all my hard work. It's nice to use, too, because it's granulated and dissolves instantly. Since there's no scratchy grit in it either, I use it for dishes and everything."

MRS. G. L. THOMPSON,

A great washing machine soap

This letter is typical of thousands we receive from delighted Rinso users all over the country. No wonder the makers of 34 leading washers endorse this famous hard-water laundry soap. No wonder 32,000 washing machine demonstrators use it. Get the big household package from your grocer. It's all you need—no bar soaps, chips or softeners. So economical . . . a little goes far. For best results, follow easy directions on the box.

Smoking In Bed; Is Fatally Burned

SHARON, Pa., June 14.—Death, ended the sufferings of Joseph Penman, 84, an invalid, frightfully burned yesterday when his bed was ignited while he was enjoying his favorite pastime of smoking. His daughter Mrs. William Spears, 271 Silver street, with whom he made his home, made a heroic effort to save her father but the entire lower portion of his body had been burned before she could reach him and drag him from the bed.

Exasperation: The feeling which overtakes the gay old boy who is spoofing the flappers and is accosted by a young husky who called him dad.

MT. JACKSON

SURPRISE PARTY.

A stag surprise party was held honoring the birthday of J. Whan Hopper of Mt. Jackson, Tuesday evening. About twenty-five men friends were present.

A very enjoyable evening was spent playing cards and reciting yarns and at a late hour a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Villa Hopper. She was assisted by Mrs. John Thompson and Miss Ella Brothers.

Those present were Stewart Hanna, Dick Thompson, Fritz Cummings, Arthur Lusk, Al Walters, Carl Swisher, Gerald Ball, Frank Thompson, Wallace Patterson, Duke Wilson, Mait McKim, Ralph Andrews, Wayne Thompson, Dick Thompson, Jr., Martin Andrews, Kasey Swisher, Stephen Klamar and Adrian Shultz.

MT. JACKSON NOTES.

William S. McGinnis was a New Castle visitor Tuesday.

Urey Dennis has been ill the past week with an attack of la grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilson and Miss Mary Hammil motored to Washington, Pa., yesterday.

Miss Emma Gibson who was operated on for appendicitis in the Salem hospital is improving rapidly.

Miss Helen Chambers has returned from Davenport, Florida, where she has been teaching for the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Propst and Mrs. Jessie Camblin of New Castle, were the recent callers on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dennis.

The social and entertainment of the North Beaver grange which was held last night in the Leonard school house was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Patterson and son, William, Jr., of Akron, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Patterson of Sunnyside.

Harry Ewing of Sunnyside returned recently from Cleveland. Mrs. Ewing, who is in ill health, is at that place attending one of the clinics.

Gerald Ball who graduated from the Slippery Rock State Normal last week has accepted a position in the Shenango township high school, teaching history and civics.

Sleath McAnlis, a graduate of the Mt. Jackson high school in the class of 1924, graduated from Wooster college last Monday. He is planning to teach mathamatics in the Barberton, Ohio, high school.

On account of the bad road leading to the church, the children's day exercises of the Bethel U. P. church have been postponed until Sunday, June 17. The Westfield Presbyterian church will hold their children's day service this next Sabbath evening.

William R. Dice who for the past some time has been a student at the Sweeny automobile school in Kansas City, Mo., will complete his course within the next few days. Mr. Dice intends to visit the Ozark mountains and other points of interest in the middle-west before returning home.

Work is being rushed on the slagging of the dirt road from Moravia to Deeringer's Corner. This road will act as a connecting link between the cement highway to Pittsburgh and the route to Enon Valley and Darington. Previous to this time the present dirt road between these two points has been practically impassible from early fall until late spring. At present, the section in the Bethel vicinity is in very bad shape and automobile traffic has been forced to discontinue almost entirely.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Patterson of Sunnyside, will leave next week for a two weeks' fishing trip in Perry Sound, Ontario, Canada. A party consisting of three cars will make this five hundred mile trip to northern Canada. The group will be composed of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Patterson of Sunnyside; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patterson of Akron, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Huff of Youngstown; Mr. and Mrs. John Slavens of Struthers; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kibble of Poland, and Fred Patterson of Sunnyside. Each summer for the past five years the Patterson's have camped at Perry Sound.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors for kindness and sympathy shown during illness and death of our husband and father; also for floral tributes and cars donated.

SHORT ROMANCES OF EVERYDAY LIFE

The Deacon Proposes

By Claire Wesson

DEACON ALVIN PURDY eyed his Saturday's baking with unqualified disfavor. The bread, mixed with much painstaking care, had come out of the oven scorched and so obviously flat as to openly proclaim itself slack-baked and soggy. The apple pie was lumpy and looked tough, while the doughnuts, fried to a greasy black, oozed lard from every "pore."

Since the death of his wife, Amanda, he had been "doing for himself," with what assistance Aunt Lucinda Dodge, his next door neighbor, could give him. But poor old aunty was down with what she called misery in the back, which threatened to keep her out of the running as assistant housekeeper for some weeks to come; meanwhile, his appetite was healthy keen, demanding three square meals a day to satisfy it.

There were several notable cooks in Glendale, any one of whom would gladly have served him. But they were single and the deacon was wary, he having no intention of being captured by any designing female coveting his broad acres and substantial bank account. He was growing desperately tired, however, of doing a woman's work and sighed dolefully as he went out to the barn to do his chores.

He loitered, feeling no desire for the food on the kitchen table; but lag as he would everything was done at last, and he returned to the house. As the door yielded to his fretful kick his nostrils met an odor quite different from that peculiar to his cookery.

It reminded him of the good things Mandy used to make. He sniffed hungrily, then stared in amazement, for not a vestige of his morning's labor was left. Instead, the table held loaves of snowy bread, an apple pie, spicily fragrant, a plate of golden-brown doughnuts, and a dish of baked beans, topped by a generous piece of pork, crisped just as he liked it.

Wasting no time in futile conjectures, he ate ravenously of the feast so miraculously provided. Then he cleared away the little that remained, drew the big rocker up to the stove, and with feet stretched out to the cheering warmth, fell into audible consideration of his lonely condition. That satisfying meal had set him to thinking.

"Now, Mandy has been gone these two years," he cogitated, "and it ain't every man that would wear a mourning band as long as I have. She never favored second wives. I know; but, I declare, if I knew who cooked all that stuff, I'd risk it and marry her off-hand. I just wish I knew for certain how Mandy'd feel about it! I should think folks might be allowed to send some sign from the other world, so—"

Rap! rap! rap!

The deacon sprang to his feet, his heart pumping wildly. Tiptoeing to the pantry door he pushed it open, half expecting to see Amanda's reproachful face, for the raps had surely come from there. But the pantry was empty, and from the slightly-raised window he saw that the yard was also unoccupied. He sidled back to his chair, furtive eyes still on the pantry door. Suddenly he recalled a long-ago table-tipping seance that he and Amanda had attended. He wondered.

Leaning forward, he whispered huskily:

"Mandy, that you?"

Rap! rap!

"That means 'Yes,' I take it!" nodding his head sagely. He cleared his throat for the all-important question.

"Er—Mandy, would you care if I got married again?"

R-A-P!

The deacon jumped.

"Pretty decided 'I wouldn't.' I call that!" he muttered. "Sounds a good deal as though she didn't care much, so that's all right."

He tried again, but an ominous silence prevailed. So he wound the clock and went to bed. Several days passed, but with all his vigilance he failed to discover who was each day placing on his kitchen table some choice tidbits. But one night, having finished his chores unusually early, he came from the barn just in time to see a trim figure whisping into Lucinda Dodge's back door, and he chuckled delightedly.

"So-o! It's the Widow Martin—Aunt Lucinda's nurse—who's been feeding me up, is it? Queer I never thought of her! Well, I'm going right over there to put the question straight up to her this minute!"

Bolstering up his courage by donning his Sunday coat, he crossed to the Dodge cottage and entered the back door without knocking, catching the widow just hanging up her shawl. She greeted him blushingly—and that blush was his undoing for his wits deserted him.

"Widow Martin," he stammered, "Scripture tells us that "man is born to trouble." Huh! I meant to say, 'Whoso findeth a wife, findeth a good thing' and—and—I guess I've found her—What do you say?"

"Why, Deacon Purdy, what do you mean? What do I say about what?"

"I mean that I'm a-proposin' to you as plain as I can. I've had a sign from Mandy that she's willing I should marry again, so what's your answer—yes or no?"

"Why, I never thought of such a thing! But perhaps, er—some time—"

"'Some time' is no time," interrupted her suitor, sententiously. "I want your answer tonight. So take me or leave me—now!"

"If you aren't the most impetuous man!" parried the widow, coyly, "But if you insist, why-y, I guess it's—it's—yes!"

"That's the talk!" exulted the deacon. "I know there was no silly nonsense about you. And there's something to bind the bargain." And the widow's red lips received such a resounding smack that it brought from Aunt Lucinda's bedroom a querulous, Emmeline Martin, what's bust? Have you smashed one of my chiny cups?"

The deacon laughed boyishly, and giving Emmeline another kiss 'for good measure,' darted out before she could box his ears.

"I'm glad I've got her promise," he congratulated himself, stepping briskly down the walk, "for she's an uncommon fine woman, and seeing that's Mandy's willing—

RAP! RAP!

He stopped short, peering into the gathering shadows ahead. Had Mandy changed her mind at this late hour?

Three insistent raps sounded at his very feet. He looked down, and lo, there was Brutus, his prize rooster, industriously picking up the last of the cat's supper from the board under the pantry window!

Deacon Purdy watched the rooster's strong bill rap-rap-rapping on the hard board a moment, and then exploded:

"I vum, Brutus! Who'd ever thought of you, a holding seances! But you've done me a good turn, so we won't let on that you're an old fraud!"

The Fight For Happiness

By Monte Darrell

TRY to get Boston," she said.

He glanced at the chart over the cabinet and turned the dials slowly. A buzzing, like a unison of hornets, sounded; then, scratchily and dimly at first, some vagrant strains of music worked their way through the ether. He moved the polished knobs more slowly, refining their setting. When that was finished the full volume of an orchestral program blared in the room.

The girl nodded. "Good," she said. "Now, don't touch it. It's just right."

He took his place by her side. The strong hands, idle once more, clasped and hung listlessly between his knees. Bending forward, he stared at the eerie instrument as if he were visualizing in the polished-mirror surface the phantom artists whose splendid melody filled the room. His face fell naturally into the lines of moody abstraction she had learned to look for, as if at times a gray cloud should fall lightly shading the young face in a mask of sadness.

The music, too, was a haunting Spanish thing, written in a minor key. She regretted then the impulse of adventure which had moved her to experiment. The girl leaned forward and touched the man's arm lightly.

"Dan!" she whispered.

He looked at her wretchedly, saying nothing. Yet, the face turned toward him was worthy of happier attention. The features were most delicately moulded, but the face was not weak, and the coloring was as exquisite as the tints in the under petals of a rose. The face might have merited almost every compliment poetry has ever paid to beauty—except for two most elusive defects—the rounded jaw thrust itself just a degree too far forward and, deep in the blue pools of the truly beautiful eyes, a fugitive gleam tried to conceal itself, an alien light which hinted at something ruthless and unholy, afraid to appear on the surface. If DaVinci, or someone who knew faces as well as DaVinci, had painted that face, he would have shown a nature merciless and inordinately determined.

"I'm wretched company tonight!"

Then they both started a little and turned in an instinct of sudden alarm to the radio. A man's voice, ringing and with an unbelievable clarity, spoke in the room.

You have been listening to an orchestral program by the Olden Times Orchestra, now broadcasting through Station WOOL, the Smith-Harley Stories, Boston. Stand by, please, for special announcements."

"Does anybody know," the friendly voice inquired, "the whereabouts of Daniel W. Caldwell, spelled C-a-l-d-w-e-l-l, formerly of Woodlawn street, Boston?" The relaxed frame of the boy grew taut as if a galvanic current had touched him, and he turned a white face of amazement to the girl. "If they do," the voice continued, "will they tell him that his mother is dangerously sick and begs him to come home?"

The boy leaped to his feet and looked down at her with his eyes blazing. "You told me," he said tensely, "that my mother was dead. Why?"

Now that the game was played out and lost the look without mercy showed in the girl's eyes.

"Tell me," she said with deadly calm, "if you had not stopped off here on your way back from that job you had in Toledo, if you had gone home first and found your mother there sick and lonely, what would you have done?"

"What would I have done?" the man echoed. "What would there have been to do? Stay with her, of course, as long as she wanted me."

The girl nodded. "I thought so—and in spite of the fact that I've waited two years for you to marry me. It was my one chance to end an old dispute between us, the only one we ever had. Dan. She lost your address and wrote to me. I thought if we were married this week I could manage so that you'd never have known—or, if you did know, you'd have had to go through, anyway."

The man looked at her incredulously. "And you knew all the time?"

"But you lied," said the boy slowly, "and the one you fought was my mother."

He picked up his hat and coat from the place where he had flung them. He closed a door behind him and she heard the sound of him going down the stairs and leaving her.

The Old Carter Mansion

By Phil Moore

"I think I'll stay in Rayville after all, over night," she said irrelevantly. "Do come and tell me more about this Mad Mary, as you call her."

As they rose Amelia came face to face with the little withered woman decked in paper roses. They eyed each other for a long, tense moment, then Amelia turned abruptly away. She heard small, pattering feet hurrying after her, and when she emerged into the darkness outside she found a pink paper rose clutched tightly in her gloved fingers. She thrust it hastily out of Carrie's sight, but her brow puckered in puzzled thought. Roses! Pink roses!

"Since Mad Mary is the only thing in this town you've deigned to be interested in," began Carrie, sinking back in the limousine in some annoyance, "I'll tell you what I know.

"She came here about 20 years ago, I should say, and settled for no reason at all in the old Carter mansion on the hill. All alone, you understand, and no one dares go near her. Naturally, we are not proud of a person who takes no interest at all in civic affairs."

Amelia caught her breath sharply, and leaning forward, spoke to the chauffeur. "The old Carter mansion," she repeated slowly. "Can you possibly have forgotten, Carrie, that that was my home?"

Carrie flushed. "Oh, but that was years ago," she said, with a dismissing gesture.

Suddenly rage filled Amelia. How she hated Rayville! Would nothing disturb Carrie's placidity? Did she know what it meant to suffer loss and privation and disgrace? She wondered suddenly what Carrie would think of her real errand here, what she would say if she knew.

"I lived there less than a year, Carrie. When my parents were—drowned—in a double catastrophe, shortly after our arrival in town, I was allowed to stay in the Carter house—till I was found to be penniless Then I was shipped to an orphan asylum. Rayville refused responsibility."

"Oh, no!" Carrie gasped. What had happened to Amelia? Why rake up the past?

"Probably you all knew then what I have learned recently—that my parents were not drowned."

Carrie sat up. "Not drowned!"

"No. My father reached a crisis in his life. He couldn't go on as he was. But it was June and life was sweet. So he just—disappeared."

"And your mother—she deserted you?"

"It was a bitter choice he forced on her, to go with him or stay with me. Of course, she went. He came first with her always." The clear voice faltered. "I wouldn't have understood then. I do now."

"Because I want you and Rayville to know it."

"My father died shortly after." There was a finality in Amelia's voice that silenced further questioning.

The car stopped. "We've circled around a bit," said Amelia. "The chaffeur will take you home." She stepped out quickly in front of the Carter mansion and shut the car door.

The front door was unlocked, she found, the light switch where she remembered it. Familiar furniture leaped into radiance, pictures bedizened with the bright pink of June roses. Paper roses filled the vases in the library, covered tables, shaded lights.

Ways of Escape

By Parke Whitney

THIS is not a story of calamity. Neither does anyone perform a hair-raising rescue act. In fact no escape was possible. And after all, did he wish to escape?

Jason Woodbury was a salesman of hosiery, under orders from the head of a branch house to go hither and yon, sometimes for many days in a district officially his own; sometimes into new territory to introduce the special brand of footwear he sold, for, strange anomaly, he was a great success in getting orders from women, but one of the shyest of men when it came to exchanging words in any but the jargon of his trade.

Some attributed his success to that fact. He came, showed his samples, and made a simple statement of their features. If he saw that he was catching the ear of his prospective customer he mentally effaced the word "prospective" and booked his sale, usually a good one. If he aroused no interest, or antagonism was evinced, he presented his card and bowed himself out.

"Perhaps you will change your mind," he would say. "If so, a line or telephone call will put me at your service." No discussion of the weather, no rehearing of the headlines in the morning paper, and this absteminousness left its mark. As long as no one knew that stark terror of being drawn into personal converse was the cause of this moderation and that his more garrulous contemporaries were the subject of his envy, his praises were sung in many homes.

He was a personable enough man: tall and thin, sandy haired and blue eyed with a clear, healthy skin. If he had been younger one would have applied to him the word slight, slender or lithe. Being on the down side of 35, thin is the best we can do for him.

There was one customer whose multiplicity of orders might have given rise to a suspicion that the dispenser rather than the dispensed had excited her desire. That was farthest from Jason's thought, and would have thrown him into a pretty panic had it been intimated to him.

Martha Taggart, also, was sliding toward the 40-year class and, never an object of great solicitude from the opposite sex, had reached the stage where she came and went unnoticed and unsung. Jason's deferential and restrained courtesy, mistaken for tightly leached admiration, stirred her by no means stagnant pulses. The fact that he enunciated his few words so clearly that no one would have suspected that she was hard of hearing, increased his attraction. She waived an undue sense of delicacy and took steps to ascertain his status beyond that of being a well endorsed vendor of hosiery.

He was unencumbered, drew checks on a well-established trust company, and was evidently a home body. At least he belonged to only one club, a political organization. (Her own party, fortunately, as she had fixed ideas on some subjects.)

Martha made up her mind that she had found her soul mate. The more difficult thing was to induce a similar certainty in the mind of Jason Woodbury. As nothing can reach fruition without opportunity, that element, she decided should not be lacking.

Like many another anxious sportsman, Martha rather overshot the mark. Just as Jason was beginning to find that the pleasantest half hour of his crowded week was spent in Miss Taggart's well-appointed living room, and to wish for the first time that his entre had been made in a less commercial way, it became impressed upon him that no woman on earth, unless the bride-to-be of a multi-millionaire, would need or want such an excess of hosiery. Either that or a mental inability to govern one's acts. In either case, it behooved Jason to bury under the cloak of forgetfulness his timidly budding hopes. He would plead a rush of business to explain a delayed response to her next order, or perhaps, wiser still, he would resign this, his blue ribbon client, to another salesman.

The order came. Two boxes of assorted shades, "such as you can recommend as the very latest." Jason was what she wanted, you see, for a prolonged discussion. But he took his stand. He sent young Walkley.

Now you might have thought that Martha would have seen in this a delicate discouragement of her desires. Not she. She felt sorry that he was overworked and clinched her resolve to give him the right to spend his later years in the restful glow of her fireside and bounty.

Martha went into the subway station after an exhausting shopping trip and there waiting at slip 3 stood Jason. A glance at the direction board told her that her car was due there. Could it be that he was going to see her voluntarily?

He turned. Smiled. Bowed. She beckoned. "Come and sit with me," she invited.

"I was hoping you'd see me," said he.

Martha blushed. Going to see her. (She never heard well in the subway.) "You'll stay for dinner?" she responded, boldly.

"I hope not," said he, thinking of the distasteful business he had on hand, but Martha hearing "I hope to" blushed again. He added, "That's the worst of business. I have to go where they say."

Martha's ears caught, ". . . worst of business . . . have to go . . . want to stay." So he had come late in order to stay longer. "You may stay as long as you like this time," she beamed.

Jason knew that he had been misunderstood, but it was very pleasant, his proximity to this well dressed, cordial woman, and he did not enlighten her. They rode along in safe silence.

Walking up the street together, "It seems long since I took that ride," Jason said, gallantly. It was actually about two weeks.

To Martha it came. "I have longed to be by your side," and entranced, she answered, "Do you really mean it?"

It was all a little heady, the moonlight, the solitude, and Martha's warm nearness, and Jason plunged mildly. "From the first I enjoyed my calls on you," he declared.

"Jason!" she whispered, and snuggled her hand in his. It made her feel quite flapperish to hear a man say, "From the first . . . I have fallen for you." So young and up to date!

An enterprising Dublin coal dealer, somewhat prone to air his alleged knowledge on every possible occasion, had the following printed on his business cards:

So Life Will Not Know

By Margaret Taylor

POQUELIN sang merrily as he went down to the marketplace. Poquelin seemed to be always singing. When people asked him why, he would shrug his shoulders and squint his little blue eyes and say, "Mon Lieu! Why not?"

Sometimes he answered, "It is my philosophy to sing so life will not know." But no one understood this and they thought it was just because he was funny little Poquelin that he sang, because it was his nature to be happy. But often when he was by himself he dropped this happy-go-lucky air; his face grew pale and his eyes did not squint, but opened wide as if in horror. Jacques, the cobbler's little son, saw him one day in one of these spells and ran home screaming to his mother, telling her that Poquelin, their funny little blue-eyed Poquelin, had gone quite mad. But his mother only laughed and dropped the dirty blue blouses she was washing at the fountain to take the toussled-haired little boy in her arms.

"There, there, my little Jacques, you are tired because you have been in the sun all day. You are not really afraid of old Poquelin, who wears the funny clothes and tells the nice stories in the store—good old Poquelin!"

When she had quieted the child she lost no time in calling over the wall to her neighbor, Jean, the carpenter's wife, to tell her what had happened. For everyone in Pezinas loved old Poquelin, though he was ugly and queer. But he was different from other people and they never could understand him.

Sometimes they thought he was a wizard and feared he might work a spell over them in one of his moods. And a great many people had heard queer things about him. He had been found once lying flat on his face in the vinyards of the chateau, in the burning heat of the southern sun; and when they roused him he had stared straight ahead for five minutes, not seeming to see the curious peasants gathered about him.

Sometimes they laughed and said it must be love that made him act so queerly, for that he loved Annette, the barber's daughter, was clear.

"She'll never have him," they would say. "She has her eye out for a duke or a prince. Poor old Poquelin! Annette will never marry him."

They shook their heads dolefully when they said this, for though the villagers were fond of Annette and hoped for big things for her, they loved the strange little Poquelin more, and it made them sorry to see him loving a girl who would never care for him.

Poquelin lived up at the old chateau on the hill, and helped with the garden. But the old Baron stayed there only because he was too poor and tired to go anywhere else, and he did not care any more how the place looked. So the vines grew thick on the crumbling old walls and no one paid any attention to the garden or the servants, and Poquelin had all the time he wanted to wander about the village, singing songs for the children and telling stories.

"I've been somewhat of a vagabond in my life," he would begin, and they would all gather around to listen to his tales. But he never told them about himself.

As soon as one trip to the village was over, Poquelin would begin planning for the next.

"I'll go down the day after tomorrow," he would say, as he climbed the steep hill, "and I'll take Annette some sweet grapes."

Then, to this quiet little French village of long-ago, came a new interest. A band of strolling players arrived, a rough and cheery little troupe in a big cart drawn by four thin oxen. Poquelin did not come down to the village any more, but they were all too excited to miss him. To Annette, the actors represented all the gay big world she longed for, and dreamed about, and wide-eyed she watched them making their preparations.

One day when the villagers were gathered about the old barn where the plays were to be given, Annette heard the leader of the troupe asking for a man named Poquelin. A famous actor by that name had disappeared from Paris years before, he said, after an accident which had crippled him, and it was feared that he had died or gone mad in his wanderings. But they were asking at every town.

"'Tis surely our little Poquelin," the barber said, and the men all laughed.

"It might be Poquelin," said Annette. "No one ever knew where he came from. He's been to Paris.

The men laughed again but the actor got up quickly and went over to Annette.

"Let's find your Poquelin, girl," he said, "My father played with the great Poquelin who disappeared and he always told me that some day I must find him. If I could take him back, all Paris would do him honor."

So Annette and the stranger climbed the hill to the old chateau. On the way she talked to him about Poquelin.

"He's wonderful," she said. "He's like a jester. He cheers us all up with his jokes and stories but I know that sometimes he is very sad. Then she told him of Poquelin's queer philosophy. He seemed to have the idea, she said, that life had somehow hurt him and he must always be gay and laughing so that she would not know he cared. Life must not find me out and laugh at me," she told the man he said.

"I'm not a little girl," answered Annette, growing very red. "Im grown-up and I'm tired of this old village with its days all alike!"

The chateau gates were closed when they reached the old place and there was no one about save an old man in a faded smock who was weeding the dingy garden.

Poquelin never weeded the old garden again. His days were all happy ones when he got to Paris, and there, too, he found a new philosophy.

"Life is kind," he said to Annette, "when people applaud an old actor like me."

And they both laughed.

Stick to It.

Cortlandt Bleecker of New York said in one of his amusing tirades against cosmetics:

"'Women have much finer complexions than men?'"

"'Yes, naturally,'" she said.

"'No, artificially,' said I."

German Election Is Liberalism Victory

Social Democrats' Victory Is Rebuke Expressed At Polls

GOVERNMENT OF RIGHT WAS STUMBLING BLOCK

James K. Pollock, Jr., professor of political science at Michigan university, writing from Frankfurt Am Main in a recent issue of the New York Herald, is of the opinion that another milestone on the road to democratic self-government in Germany has been passed. Further, the Reich elections is called a victory for liberalism and the gain of Socialists and the defeat of the junkers is accepted as insuring a bright future.

Late last month men and women over 20 years old elected a new reichstag which is to carry the nation thru another difficult period of post-war history. At the same time five German states, including Prussia and Bavaria, elected their legislatures, all of which will be of importance to the world.

Under the German system of proportional representation, the voter does not vote for a candidate but for a party list. These lists of candidates are nominated beforehand by the various parties and the voter needs only to make a cross on the ballot in the square of the party which he favors. In all there are 35 constituencies. The Size of the reichstag is determined by the heaviness of the poll and as fewer persons voted this year the reichstag will contain 489 members, or four less than in 1923.

Writing of the improvement since 1924, Pollock says that "Germany, to be sure, is not normal in the exact sense of the word. There is still acute suffering and many serious problems. But there is vast improvement in every way over 1924. In these four years the foreign policy of Gustav Stresemann has been accepted by nearly all the parties. * * * *

"The attack and defense of the recent cabinet question as to whether the president's powers should be strengthened, the problem of further governmental unification and the school question occupied the attentions of the parties in the campaign," Pollock writes and adds that "perhaps one might say the outstanding issue was 'Shall the right coalition continue in power.'

"In any event the people spoke clearly on election day and there has been no misunderstanding or misinterpretation of the result. Nearly everybody who would analyze the figures would conclude that the Social Democrats have attained a great victory and the Nationals a defeat. The victory was a surprise.

The Socialist gains were due to a number of causes. The voters desired to rebuke the recent government, the article says, and expressed their desire at the polls. The swing to the left thus profited the party immensely. The losses of the Nationalists are not so easily explained and having lost 30 seats they now are back to the same position in the reichstag they were in 1920.

"In the swing to the left the middle parties also lost. The Peoples, Center and Democratic parties each lost seven seats. In addition to the gain of the Social Democrats the Communists and Business parties gained. The party of Moscow gained nine additional seats which gives them 54. The Business party as the result now has 23 seats.

"Much has been made of the plethora of parties entered in the election. There was a total of 30 reich lists but of this number only ten were of any effect in the election. The real battle was waged among seven parties, so that two-thirds of the parties were ineffective. The splitting up of the vote caused by so many parties attracting a few votes here and there away from the larger parties resulted in wasting 700,000 votes.

"The evil of allowing so many parties to enter the field can be eliminated," Pollock opines, and says that in Germany "it is hoped the new reichstag will pass remedial legislation." * * *

The effect the elections is likely to have upon future German policy is discussed and the writer asks: "Is the distinctly liberal opinion of the country as expressed in the elections likely to be carried out by the cabinet of the new reichstag?

"At first one might think that such a question is easily answered," the article states and continues: "But after one considers the manner in which the German parliamentary system operates, he realizes that the will of the people is not necessarily followed. Germany has had responsible parliamentary government for only nine years.

"Quite naturally the system has not yet taken deep root and much remains to bring it up to the standard of the English parliamentary system. Then again Germany has been thru troublus times and has an entirely different history behind her than has England. Germany has many parties and the operation of the parliamentary system under these conditions is entirely different than where there are two parties, one possessing a clear majority.

"The construction of a strong cabinet with a distinctly liberal social outlook is what the people wanted in the election. Whether this result is obtained depends upon what compromises can be made among the parties. The Nationalists are hoping for another election but there is little likelihood of this."

Pollock writes that before the reichstag convened the pickerings will have taken place and the result of these maneuvers until the assembly cannot be foretold. However, he believes that a satisfactory way will be found to carry on the work of German reconstruction. There are many problems to be tackled and the German people, who are now sovereign, will not tolerate bickerings.

"Neither will the president, Von Hindenburg. Germany therefore can reasonably be expected to continue for the next few years on the road toward economic rehabilitation and social improvement. It has rid itself of a stumbling government of the Right and has spoken in favor of a continuation of external pacification and internal socialization."

NERVES QUIETED, SHE NOW ENJOYS RESTFUL SLEEP

Local Lady Says Ten Herbs Ended Aches And Pains And Benefited Stomach.

"Three bottles of Ten Herbs caused a great improvement in my health," was the statement of Mrs. Laura Shaffer, 130½ Quest Street, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at

MRS. LAURA SHAFFER

Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this successful new herbal medicine to crowds of people.

"Before I used Ten Herbs, I felt tired and worn-out most of the time," Mrs. Shaffer continued. "I had pains in my arms and head, and was constipated at times. My stomach was in such a condition that I could not eat certain things without having great distress. I was so nervous I could not sleep well. My appetite was poor; and I could hardly do my work.

"After reading in the paper about Ten Herbs, I started to use your medicine. As a result, my nerves are in good condition, and I enjoy sound, restful sleep. I am free of headaches and pains in arms and head. My bowels are regular, and that tired-worn-out feeling has left me. I can eat anything without having distress, as my stomach is in good condition. My health has been improved so much, that I do not hesitate to recommend Ten Herbs to the public."

Many in this section have been restored to normal health and strength by using the great herbal compound, Ten Herbs, and the demand for it continues to grow greater every day. Its sensational success elsewhere is being repeated in this city. Ten Herbs thoroughly cleanses the clogged-up system—drives out the waste matter, gases and impurities, which often cause so much pain and misery. It benefits and invigorates the sluggish stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, usually making one feel better in every way. Every claim made for Ten Herbs is backed by a mass of evidence on file, including statements of local people.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

THE HEAVIER BODIED OIL

SOME motorists feel it is necessary to pay 30 to 35 cents for accurate lubrication. Scientific and efficient production methods enable us to sell the heavier bodied Sunoco Motor Oil for 25 cents a quart—considerably less than its high quality justifies.

Boys In Swimming Class To Receive Medal For Progress

Every member of the Y. M. C. A. free swimming classes will get a swimming medal when they are able to negotiate the length of the pool without assistance, states Walter E. Kirker, physical director at the Y, who, with almost a dozen assistants, each day is giving lessons to well over 125 boys of New Castle.

Although the pool is fairly crowded at every session, yet Mr. Kirker states that the Y. M. C. A. is willing to teach any boy in the city or county to swim. Already some of those who had never been in the water before Monday have swum the pool. A list of names of those who have received medals will be available Friday.

Schwab To Speak At State Meeting

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 14.—Pennsylvania State College was today host to the annual convention of the oil and gas power division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Atlantic division of the American Radio Relay league. The conventions will close Saturday.

The feature of the conventions will be a combined meeting which will be addressed by Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel company. He will discuss the European developments in the use of the Diesel engine at oil power stations.

The engineers will consider problems of fuel oils and their standardization and their utilization through power engines. Results of experiments will be described by members of the radio league.

The feature of the league's meeting will be the "liars contest" in which amateur operators will tell their experiences in freak air waves, long distance reception and results obtained from their experiments. The only restriction placed on members of the league is that their "lies" be true.

Professional Diver Seeking Body Of Boy Here

Professional Diver From Beaver Falls In Town Last Evening, Sent By State

ELLWOOD CITY, June 14.—Much interest was evinced here Wednesday evening in the efforts of the professional diver from Beaver Falls, sent here by the state to endeavor to locate the body of little Sloysius Walzak, who was drowned in the Connequinessing creek Monday afternoon.

The diver's efforts were unsuccessful however, and although he came again this morning, common opinion has it that the body of the boy has floated far away in the undertow.

Little Aloysius, nine year old school-boy, was unable to swim, according to the story told by his companions on the fatal day, and was riding on the back of one of the boys, when he slipped off, was sucked into a nearby whirl-pool and has not been seen since. Although articles of clothing, thought to have been his, have been found, unceasing efforts of people to find the body, have been unsuccessful.

According to a story told by the boys, ten of whom were in the swimming party, the lad carved his initials on the top of a large rectangular rock, which much resembled a casket, just before going into the water.

The section of the creek where the accident occurred, below the Fifth street bridge, is a bad spot in the creek, and many accidents have happened there during the past years.

Many Attend The Eastern Star Lodge Conference At Lake

ELLWOOD CITY, June 14.—About 15 members of the Order of Eastern Star from this city attended the Wednesday session of the state convention taking place this week in the Temple of Music at Conneaut Lake Park. ## Twenty-Four Local Church Members In Bethany Crusade

Local People Enjoy Program At Christian Church In New Castle Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, June 14.—Twenty-four members of the First Christian church of this city motored to the First Christian church of New Castle Wednesday evening and enjoyed a 6:30 banquet served by the New Castle ladies in honor of the Bethany Crusaders, embracing about 250 delegates from the four Christian churches of the county.

The address of the evening was made by Pres. Goodnight of the Bethany college who made a stirring plea for the future welfare of the college and explained the details of the million dollar campaign for Bethany.

Another feature of the meeting was the introduction of the Bethany college crusaders, all of whom graduated from the college, including Rev. C. G. Huffer, pastor of the Christian church of Ellwood City.

The musical portion of the evening's entertainment was contributed by R. E. Johns, choir director of the Christian church of New Castle, who sang several pleasing soloes. During informal discussion following the meeting it was learned that the college plans to build larger dormitory quarters for the men students, and in various other ways enlarge the equipment of the institution.

A feature of the program was the patriaotic address given by Capt. Melvin L. Craig of New Castle, who stressed allegiance to the flag, giving a spirited and educational address.

Musical numbers were furnished by Mrs. Frank Huffman, soprano, and Rev. H. D. Maxwell, baritone, contributing largely to the success of the program.

The program opened at 8 o'clock with the assemblage singing "The Star Spangled Banner." invocation was pronounced by Rev. Robert Little of the Methodist church followed by impressive introductory exercises by officers of he lodge. Chaplain William McCarthy offered the prayer and R. A. Nagle gave an interesting history of the flag.

The entire program from the opening invocation to the benediction by Rev. J. A. Routledge was an unqualified success.

FIND STEWART IS NOT GUILTY

Jury Returns Verdict In Contempt Of Senate Charge At Washington

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was today found not guilty of a charge of contempt of the senate by a jury in the district supreme court.

The case went to the jury at 1:08 p. m. yesterday and at 10 o'clock, failing to reach a verdict, was locked up for the night. The verdict was brought in at 10:10 a. m.

The indictment charged that the oil magnate refused to answer two questions of the senate Teapot Dome committee relating to the mysterious Continental Trading company, which figured prominently in the oil investigations.

Gloria Swanson Is Defendant In Damage Suit

Process Server Charges That Movie Queen Slapped Him In Face

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 14.—Minus the glare of powerful lights, the click of the rotating camera handle and the penetrating voice of the director shouting his instructions, Gloria Swanson, famous screen star, today was to appear before Supreme Court Justice Goldsmith and a jury to answer the charge made by Samuel A. Cohen, process server, that the flicker queen slapped him when he tried to hand her a subpoena. Cohen has brought suit for $25,000 damages.

The alleged assault, according to Cohen's story to the court, occurred on September 19, 1926, when he attempted to serve Gloria, who is the Marquise Le La Falais De. La Coudray, with a subpoena in the matter of the litigation between Dr. Richard R. Hofffman and his wife, Janet Beecher, actress, over the custody of the Hoffman child. Miss Swanson was wanted as a witness to Dr. Hoffman's treatment of the child.

When Cohen attempted to serve her after waiting three hours she slapped him in the face and the blow was so effective the injured part of his face smarted for an hour, he said. Miss Swanson has denied striking Cohen.

BOY LEAVES HOME, POLICE SEARCHING

ROCHESTER, Pa., June 14.—Wade Hoemig, aged 15 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoemig, Monroe street, Rochester, is reported missing from his home. It was believed he had joined the Johnny Jones shows at Canton, O., and police of that city informed Rochester police that the show had left for Fort Wayne, Ind. Canton police are trying to locate the boy at that city.

Rival Nurses Strive To Please Till It Hurts!

MEXICO CITY, June 14.—Fights between ambulance crews of the Red Cross of Mexico City and the "Green Cross," rival charitable organization, each striving to outdo each other in the number of accident cases handled, have resulted in further injuries to patients already hurt and being taken to hospitals.

The Red Cross chapter complained to police that Green Cross ambulance men have attacked Red Cross ambulances bound for a hospital with accident victims. It was alleged that in some cases the injured had been forcibly removed from a Red Cross ambulance by the staff of a Green Cross car.

Police plan to assign zones to each ambulance service to prevent further trouble.

GARNISHEE MEASURE IS GIVEN APPROVAL

BUTLER, Pa., June 14.—Over 75 business men of Butler and Butler county gathered at the Community building last evening to hear a discussion relative to the presentation to the next legislature of a bill providing for the garnisheeing of wages in payment of debt.

The matter is one that has attracted much attention throughout the state for a number of years past. Twice such a bill has been passed and both times it has been vetoed by governors. It is now proposed to again present such a bill and backed by the merchants and business men of the state to secure its passage.

J. S. Neely one of the advocates of the measure who is taking a leading part in the lining up of the merchants of the state was present and spoke at some length relative to the advantages of such a measure.

At the conclusion of his talk the men present endorsed the project and will lend aid in the handling of the work preliminary to the presentation of the bill at Harrisburg.

The moths are about to open the banquet season. It is believed that no moth has ever been known to go on a hunger strike.—Detroit Free Press.

Beaver Falls Wins Over 'Cents' 10 To 8

Gibson Weakens Under Fusilade In Seventh And Eighth

LEONARD "BEANED" IN NINTH INNING

Beaver Falls defeated New Castle 10 to 8 in a twilight game at Centennial field yesterday after Gibson weakened under a trio of blows which broke a six-six deadlock. Beaver Falls again got to Gibson in the eighth and before the inning was over two triples, a single and two free passes caused three more runs to flow across the pan. The game was featured by home runs over the left field fence by Kestner and McCoy, triples by Jones, Goldberg and Gibson and snappy fielding.

Hackey Haley started for New Castle but after one and two-third innings he was relieved with the score 5 to 3 and runners on the paths. Gibson took his place and at the end of the second frame New Castle led 6 to 5. Beaver Falls tied the score in the fifth when Boll beat home a throw from second after Yoxcheimer had tried to catch Wimer stealing.

In the last of the ninth Red Leonard was hit on the head by a pitched ball, staggered toward first and collapsed. However he arose to his feet and apparently was none the worse for the blow. Dr. Eagleson was called from the stand and examined and examined the heavy-hitting outfielder. The box score:

Bert Brown, Montreal won decision over Bobby Garcia, Baltimore (10).

George Textor's O. & P. Aggregation Expects Hot Tussle Today

Ellwood City of the Beaver valley circuit intends to set down the New Castle O. & P. team in a twilight game today at Ellwood City, if such a thing is possible, and when the aggregations meet at Ewing Park the biggest baseball crowd of the season will be present to watch the tilt.

Last evening New Castle lost to Beaver Falls. Ellwood has a good team.

Red Leonard, outfielder, who is being scouted by the Cardinals, will be in the line-up, apparently having recovered from being "beaned" be Semler in the ninth session last evening.

Armour Arrives And Will Play This P. M.

Large Number Of Golf Players Will See Him In Action Today

Weather conditions permitting, Tommy Armour, national open champion of the United States and also of Canada, will be seen in action this afternoon at the course of the New Castle Field Club against some of the best players of the local organization.

While rain fell earlier in the day, hopes were entertained that it would not interfere with the play this afternoon but would turn out to be but a shower.

The play as planned for the afternoon is a best ball foursome, with George Trainor and Captain V. Arthur Smith being opposed to William Nunn and Tommy Armour.

Every member of the foursome is a player of ability, with, of course, Armour and Captain Smith having an edge, but the chances are that George Trainor and W. M. Nunn will be heard from many times during the play of the foursome.

Tommy Armour arrived here at 10:28 this morning and was met by Captain Smith and escorted to the field club. Indications are that a record gallery will follow the players over the entire course.

Play will start some time between two and 2:30 p. m. All interested in golf will be welcome to attend.

Personalities IN SPORT

WILBUR C. COEN

Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., youngest member of the American Davis cup squad, was born 16 years ago.

Junior Coen, a resident of Kansas City, first came into national attention when Big Bill Tilden, America's tennis ace, saw the boy in action and took him under his wing.

This year Coen was selected as a member of the Davis cup squad, the youngest player ever to be given that honor. In matches against oriental players Junior Coen has more than justified his selection.

The boy is regarded as America's most likely tennis hope of the future.

Pitticisms

BY BILL RITT

A great mystery now baffles the world. What has become of all the flagpole sitters?

* * *

Flagpole sitting was one sport which began at the top and a great future was predicted for it—provided it didn't rain.

* * *

It was one of our infant industries, but it never grew up. It suffered from lack of front page notice and never recovered.

* * *

Flagpole sitters were a courageous lot. They climbed up high so the whole city could enjoy the joke.

* * *

* * *

The flags didn't seem to mind the competition and in the end they won out. The banners didn't have the ambition of the sitters, but they had more endurance.

* * *

When the sitters slid down to the ground they failed to get any applause. The people were too busy laughing.

Latzo-Lomski Bout Stopped By Foul Blow

Mid-West Welterweight Fouls Latzo And Loses Verdict

MAY NOT FIGHT MICKEY WALKER

By SID MERCER
I. N. S. Special Correspondent.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Whether Leo Lomski will remain in the spot selected for him as an opponent for Mickey Walker here next month now depends on what attitude the New York boxing commission will take on his fouling of Pete Latzo last night at Ebbets field and the middleweight champion's willingness, if so ordered, to accept as a substitute for Lomski, the man who deprived him of the welterweight title two years ago.

Latzo Floored.

A short and furious encounter between Lomski and Latzo ended with the Scranton delegate on the floor grovelling in pain from the effects of a heavy right delivered to the groin and Referee Louis Magnolia disqualifying the Aberdeen assassin for the illegal punch.

The men were battling savagely in the sixth round when the end came after Latzo had battered the westerner in a series of wild exchanges.

Lomski, who had been unable to solve Latzo's crouching and short feinting offensives, had been guilty of hitting low several times and in the fifth round had rammed Pete with a subterranean right that almost upset the Scranton miner. At the end of the round Latzo's manager, Jimmy Johnston, was ejected from a neutral corner by the referee when he attempted to make a protest.

Lomski did not win a round, although he held Latzo even in the second and fourth.

Pirates Lose To Phils, 4-3

Grimes Weakens In Ninth After Allowing Only Three Hits

JAHN'S DOUBLE WINS CONTEST

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—The Pirates lost to the Phils four to three yesterday afternoon after Jahn had crashed out a double in the ninth which sent the deciding run across the plate. Until the ninth Grimes had pitched superb ball and had held the Phils to three hits.

The Pirates finished their half of the ninth with a two run lead and Grimes commenced the last of the ninth by passing Southern. Thompson singled and Southern went to third on the hit and run play.

Hurst sacrificed scoring Southern but Thompson stopped at second when Leach hit to left. Jahn went to bat and sent the ball to the fence and before the ball was recovered Thompson and Leach had crossed the plate. The box score:

Hornsby Clouts His 13th Homer

Short Field Fence At Braves Field Results In Many Home Run Wallops

CINCINNATI TOPS GIANTS, 5 TO 3

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 14.—Because of joke homers over the short fences at Braves field, Boston, 15 or more home runs a day in the big leagues is becoming a common occurrence. Rogers Hornsby is averaging one a day on his home lot and leads the National league circuit clouters with a season's total of 13.

Six four-baggers, including one by Hornsby and two by Chick Hafey, were hit at Braves field yesterday as the St. Louis Cardinals outslugged the Braves, 11 to 8. The Beaneaters scored seven of their eight runs in the eighth inning.

Reds Trim Giants.

Cincinnati nosed out the Giants in the tenth, 5 to 3, on Dressen's double, and remained ten points ahead of the Cardinals.

Brooklyn trimmed the Cubs again, 7 to 2. Dazzy Vance fanned ten men and Babe Herman smacked two homers.

The Phillies won their first series of the year, taking the final game from Pittsburgh by a score of 4 to 3.

The Yankees' 8 to 6 win over Chicago gave them an even break in the White Sox series. Lazzeri's two triples featured. Babe Ruth hit his first single since May 28.

Washington's winning streak and Cleveland's seven-game slump ended when the Indians nosed out the Nats, 8 to 7. Bob Reeves had a perfect day at bat with four hits.

Altoona Speedway Race Scheduled For August 18

Leading Racers In Country To Drive At Altoona On Saturday, August 18

ALTOONA, Pa., June 14.—Formal entry blanks for the international speed sweepstakes to be run on the celebrated Altoona speedway on Saturday, Aug. 18, were sent out today to every renowned racing driver in the world after receiving the official approval of A. H. Means, secretary of the A. A. A. contest board, the governing body of championship automobile racing.

Withholding the release of the highly technical entry blanks for this one major classic to be held on the Altoona bowl this year until after the 500-mile endurance event at Indianapolis, the race officials today declared the greatest group of racing cars and race drivers ever in competition would clash here on August 18.

Because of the extreme speed of the cars in the spectacular classic, officials fixed the minimum qualifying gait at 125 miles an hour, which mark is 35 miles faster than the speed required at the recent Decoration Day event at the Indianapolis brick track. Only cars capable of attaining this velocity will be permitted to face the red starting flag on August 18.

Three Games In Twilight League

Three games will be played in the National section of the Twilight league tonight. The games will start at 6 o'clock D. S. T.

The Edenburg team will meet the Radiator A. C. at the Radiator field with McCann and Bryson the umpires. The Ryantown team will play the Company B team at Coaltown field with Diana and Nolte as the officials. The Italian A. C. will play at Hillsville with Price and Brooks the umpires.

Hail New Big Six As Football Boom

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

Football fans of the middle west are already anticipating much more spirited competition in that section next fall as a result of the reorganization of the Missouri Valley conference.

This reorganization brings into a closer knit group the leading teams of that nationally known conference, and the first result of this new alignment will be a determined effort to definitely and fairly establish the championship each fall.

The valley conference, as it had stood for years, was broken up a few weeks ago when the outstanding members (athletically speaking at least) voted to withdraw and form a Big Six. These institutions were Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Kansas Aggies, Oklahoma and Ames. The move left Washington university (of St. Louis), Oklahoma Aggies, Grinnell and Drake out in the cold.

The withdrawing teams made no effort, however, to carry the Missouri Valley title with them. Should the four remaining members care to reorganize with other schools the use of the Valley name will not be challenged.

The comparative strength of the schools forming the new group, as against the schools remaining, is indicated in the success of the athletic teams over the past school year. Every major sport championship was won by one of the schools withdrawing.

Missouri won the football championship. Oklahoma captured the basketball honors and the indoor track championship. Kansas won the outdoor track title and the Kansas Aggies the baseball championship.

The first official move of the new organization was to place the annual football schedule on a round robin basis. Each school must play each one of the others—participate in five conference games. This will, because of the smallness of the conference, still permit the schools play at least three non-conference games in addition.

Missouri has already arranged games with New York university, Centre college and one other non-conference team.

Championship claims in the old Valley conference were disputed at times due to the fact that teams with the best records, in point of conference games won and lost, frequently held such records because of the few conference games played—and the strength of the teams faced. One season, a Valley fan recalls, found the "championship team" claiming the title on the strength of two conference games played—and won—although both opponents were weak sisters.

Incidentally the new organization will open its football career with Bo McMillin, former Centre college star, at the helm of one of the teams—the Kansas Aggies. McMillin goes into the middle west after considerable success in the east. And the Aggie followers already have visions of the "farmers" making Missouri and Nebraska sit up and take notice.

EMMETT ROCCO VISITS ELLWOOD

Accompanied By Cumo And Dunn Popular Heavy Roaches Home

Emmett Rocco, popular Ellwood City heavyweight arrived at Ellwood, his hometown last night for a brief visit with his parents. He was accompanied by his mentors, Jimmie Dunn of Cleveland and Joe Cumo of New Castle. The big boy appeared to be in excellent condition.

As yet it is not definitely known if he will fight Jack Sharkey at Cincinnati, July 25.

Junior League

The Vagabonds downed the Castle Cubs, 15 to 11, in a Junior Recreation League game played at the Ryantown field on Wednesday night. The game was a free-hitting affair, with a total of 25 safe wallops. Gray, with a pair of home runs, was the feature hitter of the game. Herbo, Mancine and Owens also hit timely.

The Lawrence Juniors defeated the Dimlings 7 to 6 in a Junior Recreation League game played at Colonial Field on Wednesday night. Shook and Neiman were the pitchers for the Lawrence Juniors, and turned in a fine exhibition.

Tennis Alphabet—G

By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1928 by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

"Oh, G, what can the matter be?" The seventh letter of the alphabet says, "Nothing at all," as it it quite able to take care of itself when it comes to winning Games of tennis. Our most famous G-player is Kitty McKane Godfree, and many a time has she strummed the victory march on the G-strings of her racket. In 1923, she was runner-up to Suzanne Lenglen at Wimbledon, and with her won the doubles. The next year, with the great French girl out of it, she defeated Helen Wills in the finals It was in 1924 too that she, as Kathleen McKane, beat both Helen Wills and Molla Mallory in the Wightman cup matches, and in 1926 she defeated Mary Browne and Elizabeth Ryan. With Ermyntrude Harvey, she holds the present United States women's doubles title.

Eleanor Goss, captain of this year's United States Wightman cup team, has been a prominent figure in tennis in this country for many years. Runner-up to Molla Bjurstedt in 1918, she never yet has won the singles title of her country, but has four times shared in a doubles victory. She has played in many Wightman cup matches, and has ranked in the first ten every year but one since 1918.

Charles S. ("Chuck") Garland was non-playing captain of the 1927 United States Davis cup team and ranked eighth in 1918, 1919 and 1920. C. J. ("Peck") Griffin, long famous as Billy Johnston's doubles partner, ranked as high as sixth in the singles in 1916. Helen Gilleaudeau is now Mrs. Lockhorn. S. W. Gore was the first tennis champion, having won the Wimbledon title back in 1877. A. W. Gore won the same crown in 1901 and 1908-09.

Alain Gerbault, a high-ranking French player, gets aboard a 30-foot sailboat with his racket as his only companion, and sails around the world for amusement. Some South Sea Islanders actually wanted to make him their king!

Famous star selects OLD GOLD

"One cigarette of the four I smoked in the blindfold test was like shooting a scene successfully after a whole series of failures. It just 'clicked' and I named it as my choice. It was OLD GOLD. Which clears up a mystery, for the supply of OLD GOLDS in my Beverly Hills home is constantly being depleted. It seems that Strongheart and Rin-tin-tin are the only motion picture stars who don't smoke them."

MR. CHAPLIN was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like the best?"

How does OLD GOLD do it?

What's the secret of OLD GOLD'S winning charm? The answer is very simple. Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse, heavy top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. These golden-ripe heart-leaves give OLD GOLDS their honey-like smoothness. That's why so many people choose them. And that's why you too can pick them . . . even in the dark.

Rickard's Party To Visit Heeney

Scribes Hope To Discover If Australian Has Chance With Gene

By DAVIS J. WALSH,
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 14.—Mr. Rickard, acting on the impulse of that great, big heart of his, has steam up in his yacht in the East river this morning, ready to sail down the bay with a party of prominent yachtsmen. Just a sociable outing, you know, and it is only a coincidence that their destination, Fair Haven, N. J., happens to be the place where Tomato Heeney is ensconsed at the moment. It is a mere circumstance, too, that Mr. Rickard's yachting guests will be newspaper reporters exclusively and that they know all about Tomato and maybe a bit too much.

I wouldn't mention the matter at all, only the tacit object of the visit is to decide offhand just how Heeney looks in relation to his terrific battle with brother Tunney on July 26 and it occurs to me that the question of whether or not he can beat Eugenic is quite secondary. The question I would like to see decided is whether the official heavyweight challenger can beat the current champion in the class immediately below.

He couldn't do it a year ago; in fact, he almost suffered the ignominy of a knockout and not from a chance blow, at that. He was out standing up from a succession of punches and had to be led, reeling, to his corner. I might mention that I know this to be so because I have assurances to this effect.

Tommy Let Up

If the first best would be the man who was almost knocked, the second best, perforee, must be the man who did the knocking, Tommy Loughran.

Loughran reluctantly admits that he hit Heeney so often in a training bout at the St. Nicholas rink that he finally, out of mercy, stepped back and dropped his hands, leaving the other man propped up in a corner unable to move. Thomas isn't supposed to be more than a dot-and-dash hitter and he was wearing big training gloves, at that. So it was with considerable surprise that he observed Heeney to be in obvious distress; he also was considerably contrite because he had promised Charley Harvey to "go easy on" Charley's man. He, therefore, hastened to the latter's assistance, cluthing him under the arm pits and telling him to stall.

"I can't" came the reply. "Take me to my corner. I'm all befuddled".

They were supposed to have at it again the following afternoon and Loughran, arriving a half hour late, hurried into his ring clothes because he saw Heeney waiting for him just outside the ring. The light heavyweight champion, dressed for the part, was on his way to the ring when he was intercepted by Harvey in a state of some agitation.

Chase Loughran Away

"Don't go in there today," said Charley. "Do me a favor; don't go in there."

Inquiry developed that the date was off because Jess McMahon, Rickard's matchmaker, was coming over to see Heeney work and they didn't want somebody in there popping him paralyzed. This Happened only a little more than a year ago and, while the Heeney camp claims its man has come on rapidly in the meantime, Loughran says he has been unable to discern much improvement, if any.

Hakoah Team Is Winner In Game

The Hakoah team defeated the Old Timers in the first game of a seven-game series at the Buckeye field on Wednesday evening. The final score was 7 to 6.

Zieve and Rogovin on the mound for the Hakoah team allowed but four hits. The Hakoah team had six hits off Levin and L. Friedman. D. Ficher featured the game with a home run drive.

The summary:

Clifton Flats To Have Booster Game

The Clifton Flats baseball team, leaders of the American section of the Twilight League, and the fans held a get-together meeting Wednesday evening at the Clifton Flats Club.

The purpose of the meeting was to pledge support to the Flats team for the remainder of the season. It was decided that the game with the Lawrence Indies, scheduled for the Flats field on Friday night, would be a booster day game. The proceeds of the game will help support and finance the team for the balance of the year.

The Clifton Flats team is playing a fine brand of baseball and is deserving of all support. It will take a mighty fine team to dislodge them from the leadership in the American circuit.

Teams wanting games with the Flats should call Williard Stitt at 5786.

Armand Emanuel May Have To Choose Latter Career Unless Showing Improves

By JACK SORDS
Sports Cartoonist-Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

Another heavyweight hope, heralded a few months ago as a likely successor to the toga that now is Tunney's has fallen from grace.

He is Armand Emanuel, for the time being holding a place a bit lower than before in the estimation of ring fandom. It is all due to Armand's showing, or lack of showing, in his recent fight with the aging, but clever Mike McTigue.

In winning from the ancient Celt, Emanuel proved that the time is far removed when he should entertain serious intentions of mixing with the leading heavies. He was floored once for a count of nine and barely won out at the finish.

All this makes him look bad in the face of the beatings Mike has recently suffered at the hands of lighter men. But Armand has his age in his favor. He is young and has plenty of time to develop. Whether or not he is equal to the task remains, of course, to be seen.

Emanuel has been in the pro ranks only since 1926. He did not break into prominence until last fall when he slammed George La Rocco in the semi-final to the Dempsey-Tunney Chicago go.

Armand was born in Montreal, Canada, but has lived in San Francisco since the tender age of three months. Upon graduating from high school he took up the study of law.

Eight years ago Emanuel took up boxing in an amateur way and when he proved handy with his dukes, decided to give the pro game a fling. Since turning pro he has engaged in 20-odd battles and has never been beaten.

Last fall the six-foot Californian passed in his law examination. It might have been a good thing, because if he has a few more battles like the McTigue one he'll be ripe for something else other than the ring.

Buckeye Maidens Defeat Capitols

A. Neiper, on the hill for the Buckeye girls, held the Capitols to six hits and fanned five batters. Chick Chafe, on the mound for the Caiptols, allowed six hits and fanned four. E. DeLillio, with two hits, led the Buckeye girls at bat. Chafe and Shuliff were the best bets for the Capitols.

The Buckeye girls, victorious in their first game with men teams, will continue to play male teams all season, and they would like very much to meet the New Castle police department baseball team in a game in the near future.

The Keystones defeated the Mud Divers 15 to 9 in a Junior League Recreation game at the P. & L. E. field on Wednesday evening. Billyt pitched for the Keystones and Gilmore for the Mud Divers. Billyt fanned five men and Gilmore had three strikeouts. The game was featured by a home run drive by Solomon.

Britain To Begin Construction Of Two Giant Ocean Liners

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 14.—Although official confirmation is still lacking, well grounded reports are current that the coming summer will witness the laying down of two gigantic liners for the Southampton-New York service. One by the White Star line and the other by the Cunard company.

Both vessels according to the reports, will surpass in tonnage the largest vessels now afloat and one at least—the Cunarder—is expected to establish a new record for speed.

It is known that plans for these ships were prepared some time ago but in view of the heavy cost of modern ship construction it was believed that the actual placing of the orders might have been postponed for another year. As it is however according to well-founded belief the hands of British ship owners have been forced to some extent by the pressure of foreign competition.

According to information from a reliable source the construction of the New White Star liner will be undertaken by the firm of Messrs. Harland and Wolff of Belfast. The ship will be of at least 60,000 tons and possibly much larger. She will in any case, far surpass either the Majestic or the Leviathan and her length will be 1,000 feet.

The vessel it is understood, will be driven by internal-combustion engines a system of propulsion in which Lord Kylsant has great faith.

The Cunard company it is understood, is on the point of ordering a liner at least as large as the new White Star vessel and with a much larger designed speed. Although the fact is not officially admitted it is undoubtedly intended to recapture for Great Bratain the blue riband of the Atlantic which having been held for 21 years will be shortly lost to the North German Lloyd whose new twin liners Bremen and Europe are designed for a speed of 26½ knots.

The new Cunarder however will be designed for a speed of 28 knots and she will be driven by high-pressure super-heat turbines of a pattern which has already been tested with excellent results in a smaller experimental liner.

Thea Rasche Tests Trans-Ocean Plane

Thea Rasche, the flying fraulein from Germany, was all smiles when her new trans-Atlantic model Bellanca was delivered to her for lifting and loading tests. Clarence Chamberlin, who, with Charles A. Levine, flew from Roosevelt Field to a point outside Berlin a little more than a year ago, instructed Miss Rasche in the use of some of the instruments which the craft carries. Above, a photo of Miss Rasche starting her first solo in the new plane.

Nanking Premier In Praise Of America For Help To China

(International News Service)

PARIS, June 14—"The United States has done important things for China," said Dr. Han-Min Hu, Minister of the Nanking Nationalist Government, on a recent visit to Paris. "America has always been friendly to our country and she has contributed much to our progress in the important fields of education and social service."

He finds, however, that America is sometimes slow to help in a large way and refers to the importance of the quick revision of the "Unequal Treaties."

Dr. Hu is a member of a small group of well-known men who have come West to correct the misunderstandings prevalent among the Western Powers concerning the Nanking government, its present position in China, its program and its ultimate aims; to attempt to convince the Western Powers of the necessity of abrogating the so-called "Unequal Treaties"; to study Western forms of political, economic; and social organizations to see how they can be adapted to peculiar conditions existing in China.

He explained that both the Nanking government and the Kuomingtang have broken completely with the Communists and repeated that the part organization under the Nationalist regime was not copied from that of Russia.

"We are still in the stage of reconstruction and cannot tell whether the one-party or the two-party system will be adapted to our country until the Constitutional stage is reached. In the meantime, the Kuomingtang dictates completely the policies of the Nanking government. The government officials carry out the edicts of the party.

"A large force of propagandists under the direct control of the Kuomingtang accompanies each of the Nationalist armies in its advance portward. Both men and women are active in this service. They mingle with the population in the war zone, explaining everyone the purpose of the campaign."

Modern Methods Of Road Building Put Curb On Accidents

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 14—Highway engineers, even more than safety organizations, are decreasing the number of motor accidents in the United States, according to Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

At one time Hayes believes, highway building was nothing more than digging out dirt and laying cement or gravel over the old roadway. Now, however, "the highway engineers brings to his aid a comprehensive knowledge of building with a view to reducing the dangers attendant or country motoring."

"It does not matter what kind of road the new construction is. If it is merely changing a cow path into a country lane, the building of the lane will eliminate some of the hazards that existed in the cow path.

"If the road to the motorists home is bad in places, he tries to make up lost time by going faster than he should where the road is good. If the road were all good he probably would travel at an even gait."

Most of the changes in grade crossings, blind turns and other hazards of motoring are credited by the Chicago man to engineers constructing new roads, rather than to concentrated safety efforts of civic organizations.

The success of the Yankees doesn't prove anything except that the man with the most money can own the fastest car.

Chrysler, Dodge Officials Outline Future Policies

Merger Not To Affect Identity Or Products Of Either Corporation

Acquisition of Dodge Brothers, Inc., by the Chrysler corporation now awaiting approval of the stockholders will not affect the identity or products of either company, according to statements just released by officials of the two corporations. The products of two manufacturers will continue without interruption.

Dodge Brothers will continue to be Dodge Brothers and Chrysler will be Chrysler says the statement, and the sales organizations will be unrelated except as they shall mutually share in the advantages of the consolidation. Their cars will continue to be produced and marketed independently. The statement continues:

"The widespread public interest in recent events affecting the Chrysler corporation and Dodge Brothers, Inc., deserves an authentic and official statement, and an assurance regarding the future of these two corporations.

"Each will benefit from the consummation of a plan which unites such tremendous resources in materials, manufacturing facilities, financial power and manufacturing genius.

"Both the public and the dealers may look forward to the greater benefits which the consolidation of such tremendous resources will produce, and the men identified with these businesses may be assured of a stable and definite future, inspired by the progressiveness which has been responsible for this uniting of two great companies."

Carry Freight Rates Fight To New York

Pittsburgh Shippers Continue Battle Against Reduction In Illinois Area

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—The fight on freight rates on iron and steel shipments was carried to New York today, in a conference between representatives of Pittsburgh shippers and traffic executives of Eastern railroads. The conference is the upshot of the Illinois Central Railroad's reduced rates from Chicago territory to New Orleans.

A resolution for presentation to the eastern traffic heads dealing with iron and steel freight rates to the Atlantic seaboard is understood to have been prepared in New York yesterday by the Pittsburgh representatives. The contents of the resolution were not made known.

At a recent conference in Pittsburgh several plans were suggested for combatting the Illinois Central's rates, one of which was to ask eastern carriers to meet the situation by reducing rates to the Atlantic seaboard.

This is the end of the long trail from Washington, D. C., to the summer White House, for President and Mrs. Coolidge. It's an air view of the end of the line, Winnebejou, a logging sidetrack six miles from the estate on the Brule river, where the Coolidges will vacation. A concrete platform, the first improvement the little way station has seen in years, has been built for the president's visit.

Pittsburghers Now Under Indictment May Be Tried Soon

Plan To Assign Trials To United States Judges From Outside Districts

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—The 167 persons indicted by the Federal grand jury on charges of participating in a rum conspiracy may be tried next month before United States Judges assigned from other districts, according to plans at the United States attorney's offices today.

This action was indicated when it became known that United States Attorney John D. Meyer had changed his attitude with regard to a speedy trial.

He said that unless he changed his mind, he would not make an official request of Judges W. H. S. Thomson, R. M. Gibson and F. P. Schoonmaker to hold a special session to hear the cases.

On the basis of Meyer's changed attude, church leaders who have been demanding immediate trials, today renewed their efforts to bring to the attention of Washington authorities the necessity of a prompt disposition of the cases.

Letters, directed to Washington and to Attorney General Sargent have been sent by church and temperance leaders requesting that a special term of the United States court be held here to dispose of the indictments.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

For anyone who cares about astronomy the sky presented a wonderful study Wednesday night. It seemed as though all of the stars were hung out and back of the visible stars there seemed to be a blanket of tiny ones that could not be seen by the naked eye, but which cast a ghostly light at the back of the ones that could be seen.

In the south and southeast the sight was especially beautiful. There was so many of them out that they seemed to be in each other's road, and any minute one expected a handful to drop down.

After looking at that magnificent view for a while one feels a sense of smallness. The things we think of as big begin to pale into significance and alongside of such a constellation they appear so unimportant.

As a cure for ego a few minutes looking at the stars on such a night is highly recommended. Another cure for the disease, except in hopeless cases, is a sunset seen from the top of a mountain.

Downtown New Castle looks something like a convention city today. Flags and banners are out and at noon the delegates began arriving. The delegates being members of the A. A. O. N. M. S., a flock of initials, to be sure, but signifying the Shrine. The boys will probably have considerable horseplay while they are here, but back of the noise and jollity they raise is a movement designed to build and help. What the Shrine has done for unfortunate youngsters is in itself a whole book on American generosity.

Service is a much abused word in America. It's such a big thing and such a small thing that it is difficult to always get the proper perspective. Saw an example of real service the other evening, and yet it was just a small thing. A car drove into a service station for gas. Now the chap in charge of the station could have sold the motorist his six gallons or whatever he wanted and let it go at that. Instead of merely selling the gas this is what happened. While the one man was getting the gas another came over and looked at the water, sponged off the windshield and doors, asked if the tires had plenty of air and looked at the oil. That customer is going back there.

De Lace Cole has something more on his mind than dry goods these days. His comedy for the Boy Scout show in the Cathedral is about ready for the big night, but they need a lot of tickets sold. You really should have a pair of them.

Start Work On Union High School

Contractor Working Two Shifts To Complete Addition Before Fall

Work on the excavation for the addition to the Scotland Lane school of Union township has been started and the contractor Geo. Lusk is working two eight-hour shifts in order to rush the work to completion so that the new addition may be used for the fall term.

Architect A. L. Thayer said that it is thought that the new addition can be completed for occupancy by the time for the fall term.

The new addition consists of six class rooms and a combination gymnasium and auditorium, also the finishing of two more rooms in the second story of the present building. The structure will be fireproof to corespond with the present building. A new heating system is being installed to take care of the additional space.
